5 Key Charges Listed Against Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Senate committee today announced five categories of charges on which it will start public hearings next Tuesday on the question of whether the Senate should censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the bipartisan six-member committee, said the charges seemed to be "the most important" of 46 filed by three senators who have urged that McCarthy's conduct be officially condemned.

He emphasized, however, that these did not preclude the committee from considering all the charges during the course of the public hearings, which will start Aug. 31, one day later than previously scheduled.

The five categories include:

1. Alleged "incident of contempt of the Senate or a senatorial committee" by McCarthy, centering largely around his failure to testify before a Senate elections subcommittee investigating his finances in 1950.

2. "Incidents of encouragement of United States employes to violate the law and their oaths of office or executive orders" in McCarthy's appeal to federal employes to give him classified information about alleged Communists or subversives.

3. "Incidents involving receipt or use of confidential or classified documents or other confidential information, 'from executive files,' in connection with his receipt of a purported summary of an FBI espionage report in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

4. Incidents involving alleged "abuses" of other senators. Under this heading, the committee referred to attacks McCarthy leveled at Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ) and other members of the Senate subcommittee that investigated his financial affairs.

5. The charge that McCarthy abused Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, commanding officer at Camp Kilmer, N. J.

McCarthy's questioning of Zwicker last February brought a vigorous protest from Army Secretary Stevens and was one of the incidents that touched off the televised McCarthy - Army hearings.

Watkins leads the special group named by the Senate to report on a resolution of censure offered by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt). Flanders and Morse (Ind-Ore) have filed a list of 46 specific charges, a number of them overlapping, ranging from allegations concerning McCarthy's financial affairs to accusations that he ridiculed fellow senators.

The six-man committee plans to start hearings Aug. 30—the same day the Senate Investigations subcommittee has set as a deadline for its report on the McCarthy-Army row.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who presided during the 36 days of hearings on misconduct charges McCarthy and top Army officials had flung at one another, announced yesterday its four Republican members had reached agreement on language of a majority report of findings.

(The New York Times said today the majority report of the four Republican senators was "said to be mildly critical of both sides in the Army-McCarthy controversy."

Marion Trio Feared Lost In Ohio River

BULLETIN

A Marion man and his two sons were believed drowned shortly after noon today when their boat capsized in the Ohio River at Steubenville.

They were Arnold Baumgarner, about 37, and his sons, LeRoy, 17, and James A. Baumgarner, 14. They were visiting relatives, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Ensell, in Steubenville.

Dragging operations were being conducted by police at Steubenville but no traces of the bodies had been found an hour after the boat was seen overturned.

Investigators at the accident identified the persons in the boat through a car on the river bank bearing Marion license plates. They then located Mr. Ensell who informed them the three had rented a 12-foot boat for a pleasure ride. They had taken their own outboard motor when they left for the Steubenville visit Saturday night. They were to return home Wednesday.

Eyewitnesses on the river bank told police two passengers in the boat seemed to be wrestling when the boat overturned.

The witnesses said three people in the boat began swimming away "strongly" from the overturned boat. However, they added the trio began swimming toward the Ohio shore, against a strong current. After watching the trio struggle for nearly 100 yards, witnesses said they suddenly were swept under and failed to reappear.

In addition to the dragging operations, Steubenville police have asked that Government Lock No. 10, south of Steubenville, be closed.

Traces of Plane Found

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Search crews combed the stormy North Sea today for traces of a Dutch airliner which disappeared en route from New York with 21 persons aboard. So far only bits of wreckage and a child's body had been found.

The body, taken from the sea by a Dutch coast guard boat, was tentatively identified as one of the 5-year-old twin sons accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yarrow of Woodbury, Conn.,

City's Budget For '55 Set at $1,803,143

$70,837 Deficit Listed Despite Record-High Approved by Council

Marion City Council last night approved an estimated city budget for 1955 providing for total expenditures of $1,803,143.

With total income for the coming year estimated at $1,732,306, this means the city faces an operating deficit of some $70,837 unless additional income can be established or costs cut.

Topping this year's estimated budget by $387,900, the budget for 1955 is the highest in the city's history. In August last year, Council approved estimated expenditures of $1,435,653 for 1954 operations.

Operating Costs Up

City Auditor Elmer Shaw said increased costs of operation of the city government along with an anticipated $313,000 additional operating cost of the new Marion General Hospital compared with the present City Hospital accounts for the record-breaking increase.

Total estimated cost of operation of the new hospital is estimated in the budget at $988,000 or about one-third greater than the $708,000 needed to operate City Hospital this year.

However, hospital income is also expected to show a substantial increase next year. Shaw estimates it at $990,892. This is approximately $294,892 more than expected income of City Hospital for this year. It also means expenses of the new hospital will outrun added income by about $17,000, according to the budget estimates.

Shaw pointed out that while the budget seems to indicate the city will be operating in the red before the end of next year this is not true. He explained that the budget will be submitted to the Marion County Budget Commission which in turn will certify income of the city for 1955.

When appropriation ordinances are presented to Council in January, they must not exceed this certified income, Shaw added. This means that unless the budget commission certifies a greater income than is anticipated in the budget, costs of some city department operations must be cut.

In Black Now

Shaw further noted that the budget approved last August for 1954 showed a deficit of some $48,000 but present anticipated costs of city government operation is in the black by some $10,000. With actual costs of operation for the first six months computed and costs for the last six months estimated, the total for this year is expected to be $1,520,889 while income is anticipated to total $1,530,726.

Departments other than the hospital showing increased costs for next year include Municipal Court, up a total of some $1,250; police department, up $8,240; support of prisoners in other than Marion city or county jails or workhouses, up $2,000, engineering department, $4,120; garbage department, $3,000; public lands and buildings, $5,600; water rental, $500; public recreation, $170; employes retirement system, $500; state examinations, $2,400; and poor relief, $10,000.

City government divisions showing decreases for the coming year are: clerk of council, down $1,300; fire department, down $22,500; public service, down $2,000; claim fund, down $1,000; elections cost, down some $6,900, and special fund down, $3,000.

Second Strong Quake Buckles Nevada Roads

RENO (AP)—Nevada suffered its second strong earthquake in two months late last night. No casualties were reported.

Damage appeared to center around Lovelock, 90 miles east of here, where a two-story office building showered bricks on the street.

Fallon, center of a July 6 quake, reported minor damage in its down town area.

The road to Stillwater, 16 miles east of Fallon, was reported so badly buckled that it was impassable. Stillwater residents reported they were badly shaken.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Ten Air Force pilots will compete Sept. 4 in the 1,900 mile Bendix Trophy speed dash from California to Ohio.

Time will be judged from the "wheels rolling" signal at takeoff from Edwards Air Force Base in California to "pass-by" time at the home pylon at Dayton's James M. Cox Municipal Airport at suburban Vandalia.

The long dash is one of the features of the National Air Show to be held at the airport Sept. 4-6.

Bullet Closes 20-Year Rule By Vargas, 71

'Iron Man' Deposed In Climax to Heated Politico-Military Crisis

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazil's old iron man, Getulio Vargas, sent a bullet through his heart and died in his palace today after 58 generals forced him to quit as president.

"To the wrath of my enemies I leave the legacy of my death," said a note left by the 71-year-old chief of the world's fourth largest country in area.

"I take the sorrow of not being able to give to the humble all that I wished."

Acts Swiftly

Vargas stepped down from the presidency at dawn and shot himself in his quarters at Catete Palace, the Brazilian White House. Gen. Caido da Castro, chief of his military staff, was with him. Police said Vargas suddenly whipped a pistol from his pocket and shot, dying almost immediately.

He thus fulfilled a promise he had made Sunday night—that he would leave office only under arrest or dead. That was after 26 general officers of the air force asked him to resign to calm a tense political and military situation. Today 32 general officers of the army joined in the demand for Vargas' ouster.

The army officers' petition was presented to Vargas this morning at Catete Palace. It was announced the president, who came to power in 1930 and ruled all but five years since then, had agreed to ask congress for a leave of absence. Four hours later he was dead.

Joao Cafe Filho, vice president since 1951, was in line to succeed Vargas.

Crisis Began Aug. 5

The crisis that brought Vargas' ouster and death began Aug. 5 with the slaying of an air force major, Ruben Vaz, during an attempt to assassinate Carlos LaCerda, an anti-Vargas editor. The slaying aroused widespread indignation in both the militray and the press. This grew when it was discovered that members of Vargas' personal body guard were involved. Vargas dissolved the guard.

The crisis broke into rioting Aug. 11 following a mass for Maj. Vaz. Two persons were injured and campaign posters for Vargas' Brazilian Labor Party (PTB) were torn down.

"Vargas out!" shouted the mob.

The military acted quickly to prevent further disturbances. The army, navy and air force issued a joint declaration pledging their support of the constitution.

Meantime the air force and police arrested Climerio Eurides de Almeida, member of the guard, and Jose Antonio Soares, a palace employe as involved in the LaCerda plot. They also seized Joao Alcino de Nascimento, as the alleged trigger man.

The situation arose at a time Brazil was undergoing severe economic stress. Last week the price of coffee was forced down, in terms of American dollars, and there have been predictions of further blows against Brazilian currency.

The air force, with Vargas' permission, obtained the personal papers of Gregorio Fortunato, husky former head of the disbanded presidential guard, and these papers may have provided material for the final push against Vargas.

The papers, widely published, purported to show influence ped-

FOUR KILLED AS STREAMLINER DERAILS. This is an airview of the crack streamliner Santa Fe Chief after it derailed just east of Lomax, Ill., while en route from Chicago to Los Angeles. Of approximately 200 passengers, four were killed and 53 were listed as among the injured. Only the locomotive and a mail car held the rails, the rest zigzagged along the track, some crashing into a parallel string of refrigerator cars on another track. All remained upright except one, the car which contained most of the victims.

Reminder to Voters

President Praises Congress' Record

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower told the nation's voters last night the Republican 83rd Congress chalked up a fine record toward assuring a stronger, better America. He urged them to remember that when they go to the polls in the November congressional elections.

In a nationwide radio and television address, the President sounded an optimistic note about the security of Western Europe in the face of collapse of European defense army talks at Brussels.

"Don't be too discouraged," he said.

The great statesmen of Europe are his friends, he said, and "they want peace as much as you and I do."

"They are not licked yet," he said. "And we are certainly not licked. Let us not lose faith in them. There is still something to be done in that region, and we are going to do it."

The rest of the half-hour address was exclusively a plug for the administration and the record of the GOP-run Congress which wound up last Friday.

The President, vacationing here, spoke from a Denver TV studio. He talked from notes on cue cards in front of the cameras, stood in front of a desk on which he leaned part of the time, and occasionally he drove his left fist into his right hand to emphasize points. He was flanked by the

Foreign Policy Setbacks Issue For Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Democratic senators said today foreign affairs troubles may overshadow the Eisenhower-praised record of the Republican 83rd Congress as a top issue in the November election campaign.

President Eisenhower centered on the at-home record in his broadcast to the nation last night, heaping praise on Congress and hitting again at opposition "prophets of gloom and doom."

While dwelling only briefly on foreign relations, he did predict they "will be the thing on which we must have to emphasize our efforts during the coming months." And since the Republicans took office, he said, Korea, Iran, Suez

France's Premier Faces Showdown

PARIS (AP) —French Premier Pierre Mendes-France wrestled anew with the European army crisis today as a cross fire of demands mounted in his own country for acceptance or rejection of the controversial six-nation defense treaty.

Mendes-France flew back to meet his Cabinet today after a hurried conference in Britain yesterday with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The Premier reported last night to French President Rene Coty at the Normandy resort of Bagnoles de L'Orne, filling the President in on his secret talk with Churchill and his failure at the six-nation Brussels conference to get approval of the sweeping revisions he demanded in the European Defense Community pact.

Top Diplomatic Secret

If Churchill and Mendes-France decided upon any alternative to EDC during their talk yesterday, it was a top diplomatic secret. After the four-hour meeting, they announced only that they had agreed to "early and practical steps" to maintain Western unity.

Official sources disclosed they reviewed all possible alternatives for rearming West Germany and restoring full sovereignty to the Bona government if EDC fails.

Facing Mendes-France was the grave decision on whether to try for another new set of modifications in the EDC treaty or let the French National Assembly be in

Senators Fear U.S. Must Arm West Germans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Democrats and a Republican senator voiced dismay today over the European Defense Community deadlock and said the United States may soon have to move directly toward rearming West Germany.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) labeled the failure at Brussels to reach agreement on the six-nation European army project "a victory for the Soviet Union." If no EDC solution is found, he said, the German Federal Republic should be given sovereignty "as soon as practicable."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said possible loss of Germany to Communist domination would be "catastro-

Dulles Still Holds Hope French Will Ratify EDC

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today "I still have hope" that France will follow her great tradition" of idealism and approve the European Army proposal.

But he added this hope is not the same as expectation.

Dulles' comments were made at a news conference in response to questions concerning the failure of the recent Brussels conference to reach agreement on changes proposed by France in the European Defense Community Treaty.

The proposal, which would bring together the military forces of six countries including West Germany, goes unchanged to the French National Assembly next Saturday.

Dulles, in a prepared statement, said "I deeply regret that at the Brussels meeting France did not decide to agree with the other five continental countries which signed the EDC treaty."

Asked if this meant he put responsibility for the failure on France, Dulles told newsmen his statement would have to speak for itself.

In his statement, Dulles said the EDC treaty embodies principles vital to the peace and freedom of Western Europe. He stated that all but France, among the six EDC nations, "stood firm for these basic principles."

Saying he is aware of the controversial nature of EDC in France Dulles declared:

"However, I still have hope that when France confronts the ultimate decision, she will follow her great tradition of idealism, based on a sense of realism, and choose to cement the EDC partnership which is of French conception, rather than stand apart."

Only France and Italy have yet

14 Bequests

Bulk of Stengel Holdings Goes to Historical Group

After 14 bequests ranging in amounts from $5 to $5,000 and expenses are paid, the bulk of the estate of the late Dr. Frederick A. Stengel will go to establish an endowment fund for the Marion County Historical Association and Stengel-True Museum.

Under terms of the will, filed Monday afternoon in Probate Court, all real estate holdings of the late optometrist and hobbyist are to be sold, and some items of his extensive collections of books, stamps, and antiques are to be selected for placement in the Museum.

DR. STENGEL DIED last Wednesday morning at 142 S. State St., where he resided and had his office, following an illness of two years. The will was written March 23, 1954.

Concerning the Marion County Historical Association and the Stengel-True Museum, Dr. Stengel in his will outlined plans that he and Henry A. True of 149 E. Church St., had made prior to the incorporation of the association and museum in July.

The will relates that True had agreed to furnish "a suitable building on Gospel Hill" in Marion to house, arrange and display for the public, and to provide a "Henry True Foundation," for the maintenance of the building and its contents. Dr. Stengel had agreed to provide many of the museum's contents from his collection of antiques and historical collections.

It was Dr. Stengel's wishes that after his estate is appraised and approved by the Probate Court, Miss Bertha E. Wilder, executrix of the will, and the three appraisers, Douglas Torrance, Lester Clum and William R. Martin, are to select from his collections

Policymakers Advised To Listen to Churchmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says U.S. foreign policy makers should ask advice from missionaries and churchmen in other countries when they want to know what people there are thinking about.

This should be done, Graham said yesterday, because the church men "are moving among the people where the diplomats do not go, and they can talk off the record in a way that our diplomats can't."

Graham said that on his recent tour of Europe "ministers told us everywhere that there was not much anti-American feeling." He spoke in a copyrighted interview in the magazine U. S. News and World Report.

Weddings

Miss Ina Lavonna Spires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Spires of 466 Davids St., became the bride Sunday, Aug. 8, of Charles Roger Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer G. Edwards of 291 Waterloo St. The double ring ceremony was read at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in Emanuel Lutheran Church by the pastor, Rev. M. E. Hollensen.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz - length gown of white dotted nylon over taffeta. The empire waist had a deep scalloped neckline and short scalloped sleeves. Her fingertip length veil of white nylon net was caught to a headband of white rosettes. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds tied with white streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Burchel Cornett of Marion. Her gown of styled like that of the bride's and was in a shell pink shade. Her headband was pink rosettes and she carried a bouquet of pink gladioli tied with pink ribbon.

Best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Robert Edwards of South Bend, Ind., and ushers were Johnny Spires, brother of the bride, and Merle Smith.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Spires chose an ice blue dress with black accessories. Mrs. Edwards was attired in a navy blue and white polka dot dress with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations

A reception for about 70 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. A three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the table which also was decorated with lighted pink candles held in colonial glass candlesticks. Serving were Mrs. Frank Turner, Mrs. John Turner, Mrs Richard Brown, Mrs William Albright, sisters of the bride, and Miss Hazel Blankenship.

Later the couple left on a wedding trip through the Smoky Mountians. They are residing with his parents for the present but plan to move soon to 889 Woodrow Ave

Mrs Edwards was graduated from Harding High School with the class of 1950. Mr. Edwards was graduated from Cardington High School in 1949 and is employed as head stock clerk at the Kroger Co. store.

Out-of-town guests were from South Bend, Ind., and New York City.

At the rehearsal party at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs Merle Smith of 372 Kensington Rd., Miss Spires presented a matched set of rhinestone necklace, earrings and bracelet to her matron of honor, and Mr. Edwards gave his best man a matched leather billfold and key case, and initialed leather belts to the ushers.

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Betty Bates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dow G. Bates of near Marion, and Daniel F. Stover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stover of Green Camp.

The double ring ceremony was read Saturday, July 31, at 8 o'clock in the evening in the parsonage of the First Baptist Church in Xenia. The pastor, Rev. Lester Kidd, officiated.

The bride chose for her wedding a blue dress with which she combined white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The couple was unattended.

Mrs. Stover was graduated from Green Camp High School with the class of 1954 Mr. Stover attended Richwood and Green Camp schools and served two years with the U. S. Army, with 18 months of that time in Japan and Korea. He is employed with the B. F. Goodrich Co. They are making their home in Marion.

The chapel of the Coshocton Methodist Church was the scene of a wedding ceremony Thursday, Aug. 12 when D K. Davis and Mrs. Josephine Porter, both of Richwood, were united in marriage.

The ceremony was read by the pastor, Rev. G. G. Hughes, a former minister of the First Methodist Church in Richwood.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left on a trip through the east and upon their return will reside at the Davis farm, west of Richwood.

Mr. Davis is associated with the Davis-Hughes Hardware Co. in Richwood and Mrs. Davis has conducted a novelty store for a number of years. She is a daughter of Mrs. W. W. Daniels of Richwood. Both Mr. and Mrs. Davis are well-known in this community and are active in religious, fraternal and social circles here.

Barbara Hentze Becomes Bride of Waldo Resident

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday, Aug. 14, in Emanuel Lutheran Church, Miss Barbara Jean Hentze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan K. Hentze of 306 Willow St., became the bride of Joseph A. Knappenberger. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Knappenberger of Waldo.

Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of the church, officiated for the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Presenting a program of pre-nuptial music were Mrs. William Ackerman, organist, and Robert Somerlot, vocalist.

WHITE GLADIOLI and huckleberry foliage were held in the two gold altar vases and marking the family pews were white satin bows with white gladioli blossoms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The strapless basque bodice was of the lace and the very full skirt of nylon tulle, worn over a hoop, was enhanced with a lace peplum With the gown she wore a lace jacket featuring long tight sleeves ending in points over the hands. She carried a cascade arrangement of ecru colored Fuji mums.

Preceding the bride to the altar were her maid of honor, Miss Jean Click, the bridesmaids, Miss Kittie Nagel, Miss Carla Hentze and Miss Dorothy Orosz, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Paula Hentze.

Their gowns were ballerina length and fashioned alike of pure silk. The basque bodices, styled with round necklines and clip sleeves, were enhanced with embroidered panels extending down the length of the bouffant skirts. The honor attendant was in rose and the bridesmaids in green. They carried cascade bouquets of white daisies tied with ribbon to match their gowns. The junior bridesmaid's bouquet was a miniature arrangement of the others. Their headbands matched their gowns and held short veils, and were trimmed with small clusters of white daisies.

Postal Clerks Rap Veto of Pay Hike to Federal Workers

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—President Eisenhower's veto of a bill providing federal employes with a five per cent pay raise was met with disfavor here yesterday by delegates of the biennial convention of the United National Assn. of Postal Clerks.

President Samuel S Klein said "President Eisenhower has treated badly loyal, government employes, adding "all federal employes and postal employes are deeply shocked to learn of failure of the administration to fulfill a campaign promise.

Crawford County Donors Fail To Meet Blood Goal

BUCYRUS — For the first time in two years the Crawford County Red Cross chapter failed to meet its goal of 150 pints of blood at a visit of the bloodmobile here Monday.

Red Cross chapter officials said today 130 pints of blood were contributed by Bucyrus area residents. The extremely hot weather and the absence of some donors, who are away on vacation, were blamed for the drop-off in donors.

In two previous visits this year, 320 pints were collected.

The bloodmobile will return here Monday, Oct. 18. The blood donation center is in the Elks home.

Worth Watching By George Sokolsky

When Herbert Hoover was President of the United States, he kept his family out of public life as much as possible. His two sons had become accustomed to their father's public activities since the days in London when he assumed the responsibility for the Belgian relief. When Mr. Hoover became President, he and Mrs. Hoover were intent that the boys should not be absorbed by the limelight of publicity which can be so devastating to young people.

SOKOLSKY

This was carried to such a point that when young Herbert sought his first job, he assumed another name, hoping that he would be hired for his own sake and not because he was a son of the President of the United States.

Neither he nor his brother Allan ever became associated with their father's activities although the Hoovers are very close as a family. Herbert Hoover, Jr., went his own way into mining and electronics and has been extraordinaryli successful in both fields. He has been a partner in a number of enterprisds, usually taking the top managerial position.

THE HOOVERS have always been an affectionate family and while the sons resented the abuse of their father in the years before his restored popularity, they remained aloof from public life and out of politics.

Both sons have engaged in business in this country and in Central American countries. Herbert, Hoover, Jr.'s mine instrument business took him to many countires in Europe, Asia and South America. He has had a working knowledge of the operations of our foreign policy and he has known many of the men in the field who have to carry out day-by-day operations.

His first public job was in connection with Iranian oil, as an adviser to the secretary of state. This task required the most delicate negotiation among many governments, particularly between Great Britain and Iran.

It will be recalled that in 1951, Iran nationalized the properties of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. in a fit of violent nationalism stimulated by the prime minister, Mossadegh. The British were virtually expelled from the country and the business was shut down.

MOSSADEGH thought that he could operate the business, that the world would have to take his oil or suffer a shortage; it was soon evident that the oil of other countries not only could fill the demand but that the world market was glutted.

Iranian oil was dead, unless Soviet Russia either bought the oil or conquered the country and took it.

Many oil men in the United States and other countries tried to find a formula for a compromise between Great Britain and Iran but failed.

Then Herbert Hoover, Jr., was asked by the State Department to undertake the task. For a year, he commuted between Tehran, London and Washington until he found a middle-ground which could be acceptable to the Iranian government, the British government, and which oil companies could join in supporting.

A consortium of the Iranian government and American, British and Dutch companies was established which will operate the Iranian company; a market for Iranian oil will be established by the other companies producing sufficiently less oil to make room for Iran; the Iranian government will receive nearly 10 times as much revenue as it got when the British operated the business. Iranian sovereignty is unimpared; British prestige is not damaged anew.

THIS HAS BEEN one of the most constructive jobs in recent years and has won Herbert Hoover, Jr., great acclaim. Because of its success, he was asked to take Gen. Walter Bedell Smith's job as under secretary of state. Hoover was reluctant to leave engineering and private life but he was prevailed upon to undertake one of the most difficult tasks in these troubled times and at the seat of most of the trouble.

Not new to Washington or without knowledge of the nature of intrigue and empire-building in the State Department, he is likely to prove a fairly tough taskmaster and to be antagonistic to Left Wing groups, particularly Communists in the department.

I have known him for many years and can attest to a toughness of mind that goes to the center of a problem and having reached a decision, fights for what he believes to be right without fear or favor.

It will be interesting to see how that works out in the State Department.

Mitchell Formula By Victor Riesel

As a general, Dwight D. Eisenhower had a lot less difficulty getting orders carried out than he's having as commander-in-chief. War was never like this. When Gen Eisenhower wanted to use his big guns—he did. Now, as President he's using the heaviest political artillery he believes he has to neutralize the Democratic drive to take Congress from him this fall—and many of his aides are trying to spike the guns.

RIESEL

One of those big political guns is Secretary of Labor Jim Mitchell, a husky, personable Irishman on whom President Eisenhower is counting to pile up AFL and CIO votes on the Republican line by rushing him through a killing pace of public appearance which would make Billy Graham seem like a back-porch preacher.

At the present count Mitchell is scheduled to face more audiences than his actor-uncle, movie star Tom Mitchell. I have a record of 12 national TV appearances, 12 radio shows and 17 major political rallies and labor conventions in the next 10 weeks.

THERE'S MORE coming. His boys tell me that the lags between some speaking dates—which will take Mitchell from Washington, D. C. to Yakima, Wash. by the campaign's end—will be filled with additional appearances in the more strategic areas as the AFL and CIO blast Eisenhower personally across the land.

Jim Mitchell hopes to be in Los Angeles when Dwight Eisenhower meets with the AFL leaders in Convention there.

Then Mitchell will bounce back to confer with CIO United Steelworkers Union chief, David McDonald, at the union's convention in Atlantic City, N. J. that same week. Then on down to Miami for Jim Carey's CIO Electrical Workers Union convention where some sharp swipes will be taken at the Eisenhower administration.

It was in Flint, last spring that Jim Mitchell set this pattern for the GOP's drive for labor support—and neutralization of the Democratic-labor coalition attacks on the President's personal popularity.

Mitchell went out to that New Deal concentration area, which is a suburb of Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers. The secretary of labor brought the gracious Mrs. Mitchell with him and they walked long miles through Flint's factory floors shaking many proletarian hands. The lady got along well with the female workers and union wives there.

IN SOME HIGH Republican campaign strategy circles this became known as the "Flint Formula," and Republican candidates are crying for it. The President said, fine. So Mitchell hit the road. Soon he was not only popular with the workers he met and with the GOP candidates he bolstered, but he became the President's labor adjutant. Mitchell is the final word on all administration labor policy these days.

That's where the internal trouble begins. Mitchell is at heart a neo-New Dealer, a description which irritates him and for which I'll get my ears bitten off the next time we run into each other. He has for many years tamed the most militant unionists by rolling with them and not getting into bloody knockdown fights. His relationship with the national AFL and CIO leaders is good, too.

They take his word and tell him they wish he would get out of politics and make things simple. It would be easier to blast the rest of the administration if they did not have a friend in the cabinet.

During the recent crisis at the Oak Ridge and Paducah atomic energy plants, for example, Mitchell called in CIO president Walter Reuther and left the impression that he would push for wage increases and equitable treatment of the atomic workers. Reuther then went out to bring pressure on those who wanted to tie up the big bomb installations.

ALL THIS HAS annoyed many powerful forces inside the Republican party—and inside the White House as well. The more conservative supporters, the men who dug up the money, manpower and campaign strategy for Eisenhower, now tell him that his secretary of labor is too pro-labor. And that Mitchell, by developing the influence he has in the White House and on the Hill because of his campaigning ability, is reversing vital presidential policy on labor.

The Mitchell policy, they say, is to swing the administration back to the days of Truman and FDR, when labor won battles because it hit the picket lines with government support.

The opposition to Mitchell is also aware that the labor secretary and his advisers will write the President's speech if one is made at the AFL convention. And the anti-Mitchell forces fear further pro-labor commitments.

They want Mitchell cut down—or fired. Or they might bring the battle out into the open. That would kill votes.

Raising Children By Hal Boyle

VALLEJO, CALIF.

How do you raise a child in the 20th century, which many people are beginning to regard as the century of juvenile delinquency?

HAL BOYLE

I asked that question of my friend, Wyman Riley, managing editor of the Gibson publications here. He and his wife, Marjorie, have the problem of raising six children. How do they go about it?

"We don't think of it as a problem," said Riley. "And we don't have many set theories about it. We like children, and try to make our home so attractive they would rather spend their time there than elsewhere."

THE ROLLCALL of the Riley offspring (and the Lord only knows whether it is complete yet) is as follows: Margaret 15, Ellen 14, Brendan 9, Timothy 6, Michael 3, Sheila "going on one."

The Rileys live in a big, old-fashioned house, the kind that used to be built for large families, with plenty of yard space to play in. The house has four bathrooms, only one of which, Riley said, "is hung with my wife's clothing."

"Our home is big enough so that each kid has his own room," he said. "Each takes pride in his room and keeps it clean, and each kid has his own duties around the house.

"The older children help take care of the younger ones, and seem to like to. We are lucky in that we have two home-made baby sitters in our two older girls, and we pay them the going rate—50 cents an hour."

THEY ARE A CLOSE-KNIT family. Wyman and Marge both believe their main duties as parents are to teach their children good manners, give them a religious upbringing, and keep them busy in a wholesome way. They say family prayers together each night, go on picnics or clam digging parties together on Sundays.

The Riley home has a television room, and eight school desks, painted a fire engine red, face the TV set—one for each child and two extra for their chums.

"We don't ration them on television," said Riley. "The only rule is that they must finish their homework before they can watch it.

"Comic books aren't a worry with us. We don't have them in the house. Our children are great readers, but we started them off with good books, and now they seem to prefer them.

"Our two oldest girls are becoming interested in social activities. If they want to go to a school dance, we take them there—and we bring them home.

"There is a wading pool in the yard, and space to build tree houses and play games. The children like to help Marge in her hobby—gardening. She has planted tomato vines and other vegetables around the lawn. That may sound crazy, but—well, it looks nice."

What about movies?

"Our kids aren't particularly interested in movies," said Riley. "They don't have to go out of the home to find entertainment. They have more fun at home. They like to bring their friends home, and we encourage them to do so."

FEW CRISES ARISE in the Riley household that require punishment.

"Restricting a child to his room, or cutting down his social activity in some way is enough," Riley said. "The important thing is to explain fully to a child why he is being punished, and never to punish him until he does understand why. Then he will take it in good grace. Children have a pretty fair sense of justice.

"But exposition—explaining why one thing is right and another thing is wrong—works better than punishment. The mother sets them the example in most families, and our kids have been lucky in having the right kind of mother.

"I guess I sound like a pretty haphazard father, but actually our six kids are too happy to be much of a problem. We all like each other, and enjoy doing things together, and I guess that's pretty much the story."

Struck Airline Will Resume Flights Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Airlines planes take to the air at midnight tonight for the first time in 25 days under a "truce" agreement between the company and its pilots, who struck over flying longer than eight hours at a stretch.

The announcement was made jointly last night by A. Dittpasquale, labor relations director of American, and Clarence N. Sayen, president of the AFL Air Line Pilots Assn. Sayen termed the agreement a "truce," pending recommendations of arbitrator David L. Cole of Paterson, N.J.

Key to the walkout's end was agreement to submit the central issue—westbound transcontinental flights lasting more than eight hours—to a neutral arbitrator.

Cole's decision will not be binding. Sayen said the pilots would be free to strike again.

The union has demanded that the westbound flights be broken with a stopover and crew change. Eastbound transcontinental flights usually take less than eight hours because prevailing winds are with them.

The announcement last night said the pilots had agreed to continue flying nonstop westbound cross-continent flights over eight hours without crew change while Cole studied the dispute.

ESCAPES JAIL

DECATUR, Ind. (AP)—Sheriff Bob Schraulka said a county jail inmate escaped here yesterday after binding and gagging his cellmate, Richard E. Clark, 26, of Celina, Ohio. The sheriff said Maynard Brewster of Fort Wayne overpowered Clark after the Ohio man refused to join the escape attempt. Brewster knocked out a section of brick wall. He was held on a robbery charge. Clark is accused of robbing a Berne, Ind., bank last May 29.

CRESTLINE — Talmage O. Nelson has been confirmed by the U. S. Senate as postmaster for Crestline.

The new postmaster has served the postoffice here for the past 30 years and has held an administrative position since Oct. 1, 1952. Nelson, who is a Republican, has been acting postmaster here since March 20, 1953, when he replaced M. V. Snyder, a Democrat.

Nelson served as a letter carrier for 28 years and was transferred to clerk on Oct. 1, 1952. He was appointed to the postal service on June 2, 1924.

A well-known Crestline man, he is a member of all the Masonic organizations including the Scottish Rite and the Shrine. A member of Crestline Kiwanis Club, he has taken active participation in local civic affairs. He is a member of First English Lutheran Church.

He is married to the former Margaret Olds, formerly of Shelby, and they reside at 417 Scott St. where they built a home a few years ago. They have no children.

Kaiser Plans To Build 2 Plants in West Virginia

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Official announcement is expected tomorrow of the establishment of two Kaiser aluminum fabricating plants at Willow Grove, near Ravenswood.

Both plants, to be situated on more than 2,500 acres of land will cost a total of about $67,000,000 under terms of certificates of necessity issued by the Office of Defense Mobilization.

The Herald - Dispatch last night quoted "authoritative sources" as saying the official announcement would come through the West Virginia Publicity and Industrial Commission. The location of the projects, however, was announced by Rep. Nearl (R-W. Va.) almost three weeks ago.

Walker Handed Life Sentence; Appeal Awaited

A sentence of life imprisonment in the Ohio Penitentiary, handed down this morning by a three-judge panel in the Marion County Common Pleas Court for Harold David Walker, 26, of 376 Nye St., was postponed during preparation of appeal action by his attorney.

Walker was found guilty of criminal assault of an eight-year-old Marion girl last Jan 29. He was ruled sane following an observation period at Lima State Hospital and then waived a jury trial in favor of the three-judge panel hearing in April.

Before pronouncing sentence, the judges overruled a motion presented by Paul Simpson, Walker's attorney, asking for a new trial.

Asked if he had anything to say before sentencing, Walker maintained his innocence of the charge. He added that "by my saying I am not guilty, that doesn't prove it. I hope some day possibly you or the people of Marion County might realize the truth about this case."

Simpson has 30 days, according to Ohio law, to file the appeal with the Third District Court of Appeals.

Assigned to the case in addition to Marion County Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith, were Judges Marion Owen of Champaign County and Russell H. Kear of Wyandot County. Marion County Prosecutor Ralph Carhart represented the state.

Walker will remain in the county jail, with no release bond.

Richland Board Adopts Use of Vote Machines

Neighboring Richland County has become the 12th Ohio county to adopt use of voting machines. Commissioners in Mansfield Friday awarded a contract to the Automatic Voting Machine Co. of Jamestown, N. Y., for 40 manually-operated machines at a cost of $58,000.

The machines will be delivered by Sept. 20 so that they may be placed in use for the November general election. Approximately 80 more machines are estimated to be needed to make Richland County an all-machine county.

The machine was one of two companies' machines considered by the Marion County commissioners this spring when the Board of Elections recommended use of voting machines for the county. The other one was the Shoup machine manufactured in Philadelphia, Pa.

city also showed some ups and downs.

One large increase in income expected next year will be an additional $51,000 from general property tax made possible by increased valuation of property in the city. Another substantial increase is some $9,000 in sales tax receipts.

Most city income sources are expected to show a decline for the coming year. Major among them are: classified property tax, down $5,000; inheritance tax, down some $15,000; liquor permits, down $5,000; municipal court fines and bond forfeitures, down $4,000; meat and milk inspection, down $1,500; parking meter revenues and transfers down $10,000; and miscellaneous refunds, down $13,000.

Special Events Aid in Collection of Polio Funds

ATTEMPTS CONTINUED today to solicit funds for the emergency March of Dimes campaign both from private homes and public locations.

LEFT: Visitors at the Marion County Fair Monday were asked to help the March of Dimes by participating in the Y-Men's Club "Celebrity Dunk." Proceeds from Monday's activities, $163.10, went to the campaign. Persons threw baseballs at a special target which, when hit, dropped men sitting on a board into a tub of water. Among those dunked were Sheriff Glenn Obenour, Jay Maish Jr., Dr. F. W. Rea, present chairman of the Marion County March of Dimes chapter, and members of the Y-Men's Club.

RIGHT: Shirley Granger of 531 E. Center St., a polio victim, makes a 15-second phone call to try to obtain a donation from a local businessman. All professional men and businesses in Marion were to have been contacted by tonight. Early reports indicate the trial will be successful.

such articles as they deem advisable and give them to the association and museum.

After the selection of those items that are to be placed on display in the museum, the will directs that the remaining items be sold, for the best price obtainable, and the income be added to the money derived from the sale of his real estate holdings, and turned over to the Association and Museum's endowment fund.

The will stipulates that Dr. Stengel's collections be given to the Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society of Columbus within 90 days after the trustees of the local Association and Museum change or attempt to change or separate the name "Stengel" from its title.

NIECES AND NEPHEWS are to receive these amounts: Mrs. Nellie Wintringham of Marion, $500; Mrs. Helen Lehman of Marion, $100; Mrs. Emma Albrecht of Marion, $100; Mrs. Jennie Scribner of Galion, $50; Mrs. Minnie Sass of Toledo, $100; Mrs. Alice Griffith of Upper Sandusky, $50; John Paul Lusch of Marion, $100; and George Lusch of Toledo, $5.

In addition, Dr. Stengel willed $100 to Gussie Farnsworth of Lake Charles, La., widow of his nephew, Charles Farnsworth.

The will stipulates that in the event any of his nephews and nieces should object to the amount given them, or should any of the nephews or nieces attempt by any action to set aside the will, "then they shall receive the sum of $5 each, and the remaining balance of the money bequeathed them shall be given to the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross."

To his nephew George O. Farnsworth of San Diego, Cal., Dr. Stengel left one sheet of every type U. S. postage stamps of which he had two or more sheets in his collection.

To Miss Wilder of 239 S. Main St., who served as his office secretary for 48 years, Dr. Stengel left $5,000. He also asked that she be named secretary to the curator of the museum.

The sum of $2,000 was given to the Board of Trustees of The Carnegie Library of Marion, with which to set up a trust fund. Income from this trust fund is to be used "each year during National Book Week to encourage the reading of books by children in the schools of Marion."

The money is to be given to one or more children winning in a contest by writing the best essay on "Why I Read Books." The library board and staff are to be the judges of this contest.

ANOTHER $2,000 was directed to be used as a trust fund, known as "The Stengel Christmas Party Fund," by the board of trustees of the Waddell Ladies Home.

Money derived from this fund is to be used each year for buying a Christmas gift for each resident and employe of the Home.

Dr. Stengel bequeated to the Marion Cemetery Association $1,000 to set up "The Stengel Fund," with income from it to be used for care and upkeep of the Stengel lot and sarcophagus at the Marion Cemetery.

Other bequests were $500 to the First Presbyterian Church, of which Dr. Stengel was a member, and $200 to the Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, former pastor of the church.

Other trustees of the Association and Museum, in addition to True, are Torrance, Clum, Martin, Russell C. Snare and John K. Bartram.

The law firm of Martin and Hall is representing the estate.

AWOL YOUTH HELD

A 17-year-old Marion youth was taken into custody Monday by city police. He was charged with being AWOL from Fort Knox, Ky. Military authorities have been notified.

Playground Proposed

Council Gets Suggestion For Mar-O-Del Purchase

A proposal that Marion purchase some 150 acres just south of the new Marion General Hospital for a huge new city park and recreation area development was presented to City Council at its meeting last night.

Dr. A. J. Wagner, chairman of the parks and recreation committee of the Chamber of Commerce made the proposal and asked Council to consider it and decide whether or not it favors such a plan.

CALLING THE PROPOSAL a rough plan for the improvement of the city's recreational facilities, Wagner said that the city is badly in need of such improvements.

He pointed out that Marion residents presently are driving to other cities within a 30 to 50 mile radius to find adequate recreation and swimming facilities.

The land he suggested be purchased for the huge park area would include the Mar-O-Del Golf Course and land lying between Routes 23 and 4 south from the hospital site to Barks Rd.

This land presently is owned by three persons, but eventually may be split up into subdivisions and owned by many, Wagner said.

He envisioned that with the 150 acres available, the city could construct an adequate municipal swimming pool, increase the Mar-O-Del Golf Course to 18 holes, put in tennis courts, picnic grounds and numerous other recreational facilities.

Revenue derived from the golf course and the swimming pool would likely more than defray the cost of operation of the park, Wagner said.

He further estimated "roughly" that the entire project would cost in the neighborhood of one - half million dollars, with the swimming pool alone likely to cost about $150,000.

COUNCILMAN James C. Jenkins, second ward, asked what would be done about the problem of racial discrimination in operation of such a municipal swimming pool.

Jay Isaly, a spectator, replied that among the youth of the city there is no such thing as racial discrimination. Any such objection to a municipal swimming pool would come only from the "grown-ups," he said.

Wagner then asked Council to consider the proposal further and asked when he could expect a decision approving or disapproving the idea.

Council President William Slack turned the matter over to committee of Council and Council promised its answer at its next regular meeting two weeks hence.

Ike

Praises Record

His warm praise for the GOP-controlled Congress—in which Republicans held only a slim majority over Democrats—dealt with enacted legislation which he said would, for example, cut taxes by nearly 7½ billion dollars, expand social security coverage and increase benefits, shift present rigid farm price supports to a system of flexible props, and provide new weapons to help defeat communism and subversion at home.

Eisenhower made no call in so many words for maintenance and tightening of GOP control of Congress in the fall elections, but he did say:

"If we are going ahead with this (administration) program, if you want it to go ahead, the decisions are largely up to you. Because it is the character of the 84th Congress that will determine: Can we go ahead and push through all these programs for the benefit of America? Or will they be stopped by some kind of political arguments?

'Want To Go Ahead'

"We want to go ahead. We are sure that you want us to go ahead. All my mail shows exactly that; that you, with us, are looking forward to peace abroad, greater security, and greater and greater prosperity at home."

He said the White House went to bat 64 times in Congress in behalf of enactment of administration measures.

"Now, 54 of them were enacted into law," he added. "We did not always make home runs, but anyway we did have 54 hits. Some of them aren't quite all that we wanted, but that after all is a batting average of .830, and any baseball fan will tell you that is pretty good going in any league."

(The President's arithmetic was off a bit. Actually, on the basis of his figures, the average was .844).

Eisenhower dealt at length with the administration's tax revision and reduction program, which he said will save taxpayers $7,400,000,000 a year.

sources as saying "the successful maneuver" to force the post-hearing resignation of Roy M. Cohn as chief counsel to McCarthy's Investigating subcommittee played a part in bringing the Republicans together on their final decision.

Contents of this document, filed with J. Mark Trice, secretary of the Senate, remained a carefully guarded secret as the subcommittee's three Democratic members put in more work at writing their own version of the findings.

The hearings involved Army officials' accusations that McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, then chief counsel to the subcommittee, used improper pressures to seek special favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine. A wealthy New Yorker, Schine was a former nonsalaried member of the subcommittee's staff.

McCarthy and Cohn swore that Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams tried to use Schine as a "hostage" to sidetrack McCarthy's search for Reds in the Army.

and Guatemala are places "where great threats to our peace and security have already been removed."

While Republicans joined in praising the administration's legislative accomplishments, Democratic Senators Russell of Georgia, Mansfield of Montana and Jackson of Washington said that the apparent collapse of the European Defense Community and what they called an unfavorable settlement in Indochina may claim the chief attention of American voters. The senators spoke in separate interviews without directly referring to Eisenhower's speech.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the status of international relations this fall "may well be the deciding factor in the election."

a ratification debate, scheduled for Saturday, on the pact as it stands.

The Premier himself had insisted that the modifications he demanded at Brussels were necessary to win French ratification. Some members of his Cabinet favor the pact as it stands, but others oppose it unless it is drastically altered. Whichever way the Premier swings he is bound to lose support.

There was some doubt among politicians today whether his Cabinet could survive the treaty debate.

Former Premier Antoine Pinay, a supporter of EDC, suggested last night that the six West European allies go ahead with the scheme for an 18-month "trial marriage" period. They should put it into effect as originally drafted, he said, but agree that any of the members could call a conference for revision of impractical features for the first 18 months. This period could be extended if necessary.

phic," while Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said an EDC collapse would mean the United States should "by all means" move to rearm the former enemy.

State Department Press officer Henry Suydam said yesterday the department will want to study "the whole picture" before commenting on the Brussels collapse.

President Eisenhower in his broadcast to the nation last night discounted what he termed "gloomy predictions about Europe" as the result of the Brussels stalemate.

"There is still something to be done in that region, and we are going to do it," he said. He did not specify what this might be.

Washington officials were reported searching desperately for some formula to salvage the multination project, although most acknowledged privately they had little hope of success.

If compromise attempts fail, it was said the United States and Britain were ready to go ahead with plans to end their occupation of Germany and restore sovereignty in line with a plan agreed on between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Churchill here last July.

dling by Fortunato. This increased the troubles for the government already under attack for alleged corruption.

New demands for Vargas' resignation were made at an Aeronautical Club meeting Saturday. Air force general officers conferred 10 hours Sunday and prepared a note saying Vargas' resignation was the only solution for the crisis.

The army officers' memorial calling for Vargas to quit was presented to him shortly after midnight by Gen. Mascarenhas de Moraes, chief of the armed forces general staff, and War Minister Zenobio da costa. Then came frantic hours of conferences between Vargas and these army officers and members of his Cabinet, as well as members of his family.

Local Real Estate Board Plans for State Session

Plans were made to attend the annual Ohio Association of Real Estate Board meeting next month when members of the Marion Real Estate Board met Monday at the YMCA.

Reds Despised, Say Refugees From Hungary

NEW YORK (AP) — "The best friends of freedom are behind the Iron Curtain," says a refugee Hungarian clergyman in describing resistance to communism in his homeland.

Msgr. Bela Varga, once speaker of the Hungarian Parliament and president of the Hungarian National Council, said yesterday he believes anti-Communist feeling in Hungary is as strong as ever. The Roman Catholic clergyman made this statement as a witness before the House Committee on Communist Agression, which continues its hearings on Hungary today.

Msg. Varga, who was jailed by the Russians but later escaped, said there was widespread rape and plunder by the Russians in an effort to break the spirit of the Hungarian people.

Another witness was Ferenc Navy, who was forced to resign as prime minister of Hungary in 1946 when the Communists held his 4-year-old son as a hostage. Navy urged the United States to step up its propaganda campaign of "truth" to "combat Communist propaganda lies."

Julius Belso, once a Hungarian farmer and member of the Hungarian Parliament, told how Communists forced farmers to join collective farms by use of threats and heavy taxes.

Radio Broadcasts Scheduled at Fair By Gospel Crusade

Special activities of the staff of the Gospel Tent Crusade at Garfield Park sponsored by the Maranatha Bible Church are arranged to include radio broadcasts at the Marion County Fairgrounds each day this week at 1:15 p.m. over Station WMRN. There will be broadcasts also Aug. 30 and the final day of the crusade, Sept. 6. Rev. Mark Mitchell of Canton is the evangelist, and Rev. Earl L. Holliday, Maranatha Church pastor, is in charge.

Two films at the tent services this week will be the Billy Graham production, "Oil Town USA," Thursday night and "Missing Christians," Saturday night.

Yesterday afternoon a group of 30 met with representatives of the Lexington Baptist College, Lexington, Ky., at the tent. Rev. Thomas Moody, registrar of the school and Rev. Lloyd Mchanes, director of evening classes there, held round table discussion and interviewed prospective students. A picnic lunch followed. At the evening service, a quartet from the college sang. Rev. Moody spoke briefly, and Rev. Mitchell preached on "An Ass With a Broken Neck." He and the college group conducted the Monday night Bible Class at the Marion Training School.

Fred Peters of Ashland will be present Thursday night to lead song service in the absence of Rev. George Zinn of Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, Ill., music director for the crusade, who will be in Upper Sandusky to conduct a service at the Bible Church there.

War Production Readiness Setup Will Start Aug. 25

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming today ordered into effect a new plan for keeping the nation's military production facilities in constant readiness for a quick leap into all-out war production.

The order, effective Aug. 25, calls for payments to private industry to maintain in production condition idle equipment considered essential to full war production. It also includes arrangements for keeping together key production personnel and for keeping production techniques and finished products up to date.

A spokesman for Flemming said this would cost "several hundreds of millions of dollars a year."

to ratify the EDC treaty, which France proposed more than two years ago. French delay has sprung mainly from fears of rearming Germany, even within an international army.

He declined to speculate on what the U.S. government will do in the event France rejects EDC. However, he already has said some steps must be taken to restore West Germany's sovereignty and to integrate West Germany with the western defense of Europe.

Before Dulles met newsmen, dismay over the EDC deadlock was voiced on Capitol Hill by two Democrats and a Republican senator, who said the United States may soon have to move directly toward rearming Germany.

$25 FINE LEVIED

A fine of $25 and costs was levied against Carl Hickman, 50, who gave no home address in Municipal Court Monday. He was arrested by city police in the Postoffice Monday morning, and charged with being a suspicious person.

Tops Sheep Competition

TOP PRIZE WINNER in the sheep division judging held Monday at the County Fair was Suzanna Lovett of LaRue. Here she is seen after receiving a trophy for her lamb. She also took top honors in the Shropshire and Southdown classes and was winner in the sheep showmanship contest held after the judging.

entries which included both poultry and rabbits. Alfreda Collmer of near Marion won six first and six second place prizes.

In the Junior Fair Poultry Showmanship contest held after the judging, John Bish of Green Camp took top honors in the senior division while Charlotte Gruber of Claridon won in the junior section.

Bish received a wristwatch for his placing while the girl took home a fountain pen. Bob Dickenson of Caledonia was second in the senior division and Kenneth Collmer of Claridon was second in the junior division.

—:—

IN THE DAIRY cattle judging, Hideaway Farms of Bucyrus took honors in the Guernsey class, wrapping up 18 awards including the prizes for the grand and reserve champion bull and the junior champion female. Bart Jordan and Son of Mount Gilead had the grand champion female.

Fred W. Issler and Son of near Richwood won honors for the grand and junior champion bull in the Jersey class. H. J. Bittner of Danville had the senior champion female and the junior champion female was owned by Kenneth Berger and Son of Mount Vernon.

Philip Leathem of near Martel took four prizes in the Brown Swiss class. No champions were named. Nelson Langel of Kirkersville won 15 prizes in the Ayrshire class including the grand and reserve champion bulls. No champion females were named.

In the junior division of the dairy judging, breed champion in the Ayrshire class was owned by Marilyn Zieg of the Pleasant 4-H Club. The reserve champion was shown by Charlotte Stevens of the Martel 4-H Club.

Philip Leathem had the breed champion in the Brown Swiss class of the junior fair as well as in the open division. Tommy Lauer of the Prospect Dairy Club had reserve champion.

Charles Russell of Prospect Dairy had the champion among Guernseys with Paul Clay of Bowling Green 4-H second.

Sue Denzer of the Waldo 4-H Club was the owner of the champion in the Jersey class with Tom Isler of Prospect second.

Suzanna Lovett of LaRue made a walkaway of the sheep contest as she captured all prizes in the Shropshire class in the junior fair and the open division. She also took the trophy for winning the market fat lamb show, which was held for the first time here this year. She also had the best pen of three in that show.

To make her day complete, she won the sheep showmanship contest, edging out Don Isler of Prospect. Miss Lovett also had the grand champion Southdown lamb, the breed champion and reserve Southdown ewes in the junior division and the champion ewe in the open division. In the fat lamb contest, Richard Oberdier of LaRue was second.

Jack Fetter of Prospect won the junior sheep showmanship contest with Dick Seiter, also of Prospect second.

OTHER JUNIOR FAIR sheep results saw Norman Buyer of the LaRue F.F.A. capture the prize for the champion Suffolk ewe, with Stanley Beers of Claridon F.F.A. taking the reserve championship in that class.

Kenneth Murphy of near Marion had both the grand and reserve champion ewes in the Corriedale class.

In open fair competition, Donald Andregg of Basil was the only entrant in the Oxford Downs class. Franklin E. Leighley of Upper Sandusky had the champion ram in the Southdown class while Richard Oberdier had the reserve champion ram and reserve champion ewe.

All four champions in the Hampshire Downs class went to the sheep of Richard Smith and Raymond Linn of Mount Gilead.

Champion ram in the Suffolk class was shown by John W. Buyer of LaRue, while Stanley Beers of near Marion had the champion ewe. Clyde Perkins of Lexington had both the reserve champions in that class.

Cecil Murphy and Sons of Morral took honors for the grand champion ewe as well as the reserve champion ram and ewe in the Corriedale class. Champion ram was owned by Richard Jaggers of Mount Gilead.

Three of the four prizes in the Columbia class went to Jesse Heinlen of Nevada who had all but the champion ewe which was owned by Clyde Perkins. All prizes in the Merinos class went to M. P. Barry of Cardington and the only entrant in the French Merinos class was by Lewis Lee and Son of LaRue.

HOLSTEIN CATTLE will be judged today. The fair also plays host to the Ohio Shorthorn Show. Winners in that event will probably go to Columbus to take part in the National Shorthorn Show at the State Fair.

Wednesday, which is junior fair day, is expected to draw the largest crowd to the fairgrounds. A tractor operators contest will begin at 9 a.m. Other activities on the card are demonstrations in the Ohio Edison Tent by girls from around the county, a livestock judging contest, judging of 4-H floats, the annual junior fair parade at 7 p.m., the awarding of trophies and prizes at 8 p.m. and a county talent show at 8:30.

Wednesday is also Kids' Day as school children will be admitted free.

I WAS TOO BUSY TO NEED A SAVIOR

FROM the very earliest days I can remember I was always caught in a whirl of activities. In school there were always things to do, then on into college the whirl of social and extra-curricular programs. Then after college into business. The struggle to get ahead combined with making all the contacts that are essential to climbing.

All of my life was one whirl after another, always going, never stopping long enough to think, until one day I had to stop and think about God.

I was living in God's world and I hadn't even taken time to know Him. I was breathing God's air, and I hadn't taken time to thank Him. I was enjoying God's sunshine, and I hadn't even taken time to express my appreciation. But worse than all of these, I was breaking God's law and I had been too busy to recognize my sin until that day when God arrested me and I learned from His Word that He had sent His Son to die for ungrateful, sinful, busy people like me.

I took time that day out of a busy life to take Jesus Christ as my Savior and My Lord, and now I'm busy telling others about Him.

Explains Stand in Senate Fight

Kerr Opposes Exclusive Patents on Atom Power

By JAMES FREE

WASHINGTON (NANA) — The man who led the successful fight in Congress against the granting of exclusive patents in atomic energy power production is convinced that he has helped, not hurt, free competitive business.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D., Okla.) believes, too, that many citizens still do not realize the tremendous importance of the atomic power patents issue.

He feels that there is much more at stake than control of potential atomic power worth hundreds of billions of dollars. To Kerr there is involved the very survival of free, competitive enterprise and the defense security of the United States.

Patents were not the only major question in the Atomic Energy act amendments approved the other day by the Congress. But they did head a number of vital issues wrapped up in a single Senate roll-call vote (to recommit the conference report and insist on several Senate amendments). And this was what the highly respected Sen. Walter George (D., Ga.) described as perhaps the most important vote he had ever cast in his 32 years in the Senate.

KERR AND OTHERS disputed the argument of the House majority that exclusive patents were needed to assure private property rights and to encourage private industry in this new field. The Oklahoma senator sponsored the Eisenhower suggestion of setting up an interim period of compulsory licensing. In this period corporations could take out patents but would have to license other companies to use them for a specified time on payment of a reasonable fee.

The Senate approved Kerr's proposed 10-year interim period, but, on the insistence of House conferees, the period was cut down to five years.

A multimillionaire businessman in his own right, Sen. Kerr Long has been recognized as one of the most effective champions of private enterprise in the Congress. So opponents of his amendment could make no headway with charges that it was socialistic or left wing.

SUPPORTERS OF THE KERR Amendment felt that in the initial years of atomic power development only compulsory licensing could prevent the building up of powerful monopolies. They contended that only a few bigger and richer corporations now have the know-how and the capital needed to enter atomic power production.

"If the government allowed exclusive patents to these favored few," said Kerr, "we would have the reverse of encouraging free, competitive enterprise. We would have monopolies, and monopoly is the enemy of private enterprise.

"This is not a matter of the government stepping in and regulating an established industry. No vested private ownership or interest is involved at this stage. So far the government has controlled all the work and operations have been primarily for national defense. The people of the country have $12,000,000,000 invested in atomic energy development.

"I want private enterprise to share in atomic power development. But it should be on a free, competitive bsais and not through any system that would permit the creation of huge monopolies."

WHERE DOES the national security angle on patents come in?

"Suppose," commented Kerr, "that we allowed exclusive patents, and a number of big monopolies sprung up. They would want trained, experienced, top - notch specialists in the atomic energy field. Where would they have to get them? They would have to hire them away from the Atomic Energy Commission, from our armed services and from private companies now doing defense work. And where would that leave our national defense atomic projects?"

Kerr insists that there is no need for trying to rush into the era of exclusive patents in the coming atomic industrial age. Five years ought to give the government time to work out a fully satisfactory plan for private business participation, in Kerr's opinion. And, if it turns out that this is not long enough, he thinks it is up to the Congress to extend the interim period.

PREMIER WEEPS. Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, the Iranian royalist strongman who succeeded Mohammed Mossadegh as premier, weeps as he leaves base of Terhan memorial honoring soldiers and civilians who died in the revolt against Mossadegh's regime. The ceremony, in which he placed a bouquet of flowers at the base of the memorial, marked the first anniversary of the revolt. Tehran celebrated the anniversary with parades, banquets, street parties and the public sacrifices of animals.

Jeep Hauling Dynamite Hits Rock, Driver Killed

PHILIPPI, W.Va. (AP)—A Clarksburg man was killed yesterday when the jeep in which he was hauling dynamite ran off a road and struck a rock.

The impact set off the dynamite, killing 63-year-old Joseph Garland Wheeler, operator of a strip mine near Berryburg.

Braves Have Eight Days To Get Back in Flag Chase

Milwaukee Meets Phillies, Giants and Brooks at Home

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves have eight days left to get back into the National League pennant fight. After that it will be too late.

The big tests start tonight when Philadelphia moves into County Stadium in Milwaukee for the first of three games. Then comes New York for two games and Brooklyn for four.

A sweep would make the Braves dangerous contenders. A misstep anywhere along the path could be the end.

Last week should be edged in black on Milwaukee calendars. Only seven days ago the Braves were a mere 3½ games out of the lead and owned a nine-game winning streak. Then came four losses in six games and now they're 7½ behind.

Although faced with a real battle to stay in first division, the Phillies have had a lot to say already about the positions of the first two teams in the pennafit race. In the last week, for example, they personally added three games to the Giants' edge over Brooklyn by beating th Dodgers three games and losing three to the Giants.

Milwaukee holds a 9-8 edge over New York and a 10-6 bulge over the Dodgers so far. But against the Phillies the Braves only have been able to break even at 8-8.

The Giants and Dodgers both open 10-game swings through the West today. The Giants stop off first in Chicago. Brooklyn begins in Cincinnati. As soon as the two clubs come home they collide in a three-game series at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 3-4-5.

The forthcoming week in the American League includes an extended tour of the Eastern seaboard by the fast-moving Cleveland Indians, prior to their final three-game visit to New York.

The Yankees, meanwhile, will be nursing their wounds at home with two games against Baltimore, three against Detroit and a single date with Chicago.

Yesterday the Washington Senators whipped Philadelphia twice, 8-5 and 10-3. Eddie Yost and Jim Busby combined to drive in six runs in the double-header. Chuck Stobbs stayed all the way in the first game for his eighth victory. Gus Keriazakos pitched his first complete game in the majors in the nightcap.

Cincinnati's game in Milwaukee was rained out.

Ex-Champs Lose in Play At Amateur

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

DETROIT (AP) — Amateur golf still is a game for scramblers—in spite of the efforts of the pros to teach "scientific" play and of the U. S. Golf Assn. to find a championship course that will penalize every mistake.

It was 1950 amateur champion Sammy Urzetta who voiced that opinion, just after being eliminated in the first round of the 1954 Amateur Championship at the Country Club of Detroit. And the results of yesterday's other first-round encounters supported his opinion.

Sammy definitely had been outscrambled, losing on the 19th hole to Tim Holland, the tall young toy manufacturer from Rockville Centre, N. Y. And he was feeling pretty bad about it.

"I really wanted to make a good showing here because I want to make one more Walker Cup team," he said.

"And I was playing real good golf; I think the best since Minneapolis. (That's where he won the Amateur four years ago). It just shows you still can scramble and win."

Urzetta was just one of the four ex-champions who failed to get through the first round. The only one of five entered who still was around for the second round today was Willie Turnesa (1938 and 1948.) He drew a bye and didn't have to play.

Also on the sidelines were thinman Charlie Coe, the 1949 winner; Ted Bishop (1946) and Chick Evans (1916 and 1920), along with such other prominent players as Frank Strafaci; intercollegiate champion Hillman Robbins; Ray Palmer, a quarter-finalist last year; and Fred Kammer, one of the Detroit favorites.

But the favorites got about an even break in the 72 first-round matches. Numbered among the winners were wisecracking Billy Joe Patton, the gallery favorite who won out on the 19th; Dale Morey, last year's runner-up; Harvie Ward, winner of the Canadian Amateur, last week, Arnold Palmer; Don Cherry, and Hobart Manley.

BASEBALL BALLET at first base. With their shadows giving the picture surrealist touch, Philadelphia's Vic Powers goes high in air in futile attempt to get high throw as Washington Senators outfielder Jim Busby skips across first safely in first inning of game in Philadelphia. Watching play is umpire Nestor Chylak. Busby beat the ball when shortstop Joe De Maestri threw high to the bag.

Five Titles At Stake in Trap Shoot

By FRITZ HOWELL

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Five of trapshooting's most coveted titles, the clay target championships of North America, headlined today's program at the 58th Grand American.

Winners in the men's, women's, junior, sub-junior and professional divisions will be named in the 200-target, 16-yard event expected to attract about 850 entrants.

Yesterday's opening contest drew 662 shooters representing 44 states and three Canadian provinces. Sharpshooters from the other four states may move in today.

Last year's winners of the North American laurels were expected to put up a spirited fight to retain their titles.

Fred D. Waldock of Sandusky, Ohio, winner of the men's crown in 1953, broke 199 of 200 yesterday in the introductory shoot to serve notice he is ready.

Iva Pembridge, 29-year-old rural school teacher from Phillipsburg, Kan., defender of the women's championship, cracked 198 of 200 yesterday. In an added feature she broke 98 of 100 in the regular event and 75 straight in a shootoff to outlast the feminine champions of the other states.

Bill Nelson, 16-year-old Brady, Neb., high school sophomore, who seeks the junior crown for the second straight time, broke 100 straight to win yesterday's "champion of champions" race for state title holders under 18.

The battle of state champions among the men is an added feature on today's program.

Goodrich Golfers Take First Place From Legionnaires

B. F. Goodrich has taken over top spot in the Marion Industrial Golf League from American Legion Post 162 following action Monday.

While the Goodrich squad was downing Marion Engineer Depot No. 2, 6-2, the Legion post squad was splitting, 4-4, with Marion Engineer Depot No. 1.

The action left the Goodrich squad in top spot with 36½ points and the Legion team in the runner-up position with 36.

In other action yesterday, Marion Power Shovel defeated Marion Engineer Depot No. 3, 6½-1½, Tecumseh downed Marion Industries, 5½-2½; and Gulf Refining disposed of Erie Railroad, 4-2.

Marion Engineer Depot No. 1 now holds down third spot in the league race with 32½ points while close behind is Marion Industries with 31½. Then come Marion Engineer Depot No. 2, 29½; Tecumseh, 28; Marion Power Shovel, 24; Marion Engineer Depot No. 3, 20½, Erie Railroad, 20½; and Gulf Refining, 19.

Low net scores yesterday were a 31 by A. Cortese and 32's by D. Allen, R. Newell, A. Long and W. Galyk.

Defending Champs Ousted in Women's Softball Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Columbus Julian Appliance, defending champion in the Women's State softball Tournament here, bowed out yesterday in the double loss play. The team was defeated 1-0 by Toledo CIO.

In winning bracket play, Dayton Country Kitchen defeated Dayton NCR, 3-1. Winner of the state tourney will enter regional play here Aug. 27-29.

Other results:

Ashland 5, Columbus Pope's Inn, 1
Hubbard 6, Ashland 0
Toledo CIO 8, Findlay 4

Hubbard plays Toledo tonight at 7 p. m. with that winner meeting Dayton NCR at 830 p. m.

Waits for Tribe Games

Stengel Says 'It's Up to Me' As Yanks Open Home Stand

NEW YORK (AP)—His team 5½ lengths off the phenomenal .721 pace of the Cleveland Indians, Casey Stengel today put himself on the spot with an "it's up to me" declaration as his New York Yankees opened a vital nine-game home stand.

"This is where the manager comes in," said Casey. "It's up to me to get them out of this streak."

The "streak" Casey referred to was the loss of three games in Boston last weekend, a body blow, most observers believe, to the club's chances of winning their sixth straight American League flag.

But Stengel sees the Yankees' plight as far from hopeless.

"Don't forget we still have five more games left with Cleveland," he observed "The Yankees will get on their feet again and make a comeback."

The two top contenders are scheduled to get together in Yankee Stadium in a three-game set, Aug. 31-Sept. 2 and then wind up their season's series with a doubleheader in Cleveland on Sept. 12

Although disappointed over his team's showing against the red-hot Red Sox, Stengel said it wasn't the lack of hustle that caused the Yankees' demise.

"I never saw a team try so hard as this one did in Boston. These guys have been putting out all season. When you lose two men like Slaughter and Woodling because they ran into walls chasing flies, you know the effort is there."

Stengel's morale received a much needed boost late yesterday when he learned that Woodling probably would return to action in two weeks. When he hurt his wrist at Fenway Park on Saturday, it was feared Gene would be lost for the rest of the campaign.

Three more of Casey's invalids will be available for tonight's game against Baltimore.

Jim McDonald has recovered from a groin injury, Hank Bauer from a pelvis ailment and Allie Reynolds' right knee is sound again.

"No, we're not helpless yet," Casey emphasized as he huddled with himself over tonight's batting order.

Herr, Vornholt To Collide for Club Golf Title

Gilbert Herr and Dr. Jack Vornholt will battle in the class A finals for the club championship at the Marion Country Club.

In action the past week, Dr. Richard Morgan and Less VanDommelen advanced to the finals in the Class B flight.

In Class C, Bob Bagley battles Stu Norris while Bob Glosser will take on the winner of the Jack Taft-Bill Short match in the semi-finals.

Mrs. Mae Frazier became woman's club champion Saturday for the second straight year by defeating Mrs. Thelma Minard. Not yet completed in the woman's tournament are the B, C and D flights.

In a "Beat the Pro" tournament Saturday about 50 golfers, with handicaps, defeated Jack Stoddard, club pro. Stoddard fired a 74. Low net scores in the tournament were a 67 by Lou Cummins, 68 by Herb Petrich, and 69's by John Rife and Cline Welch

The Country Club golfers travel to Bellefontaine Wednesday for a return and final inter-club match of the season.

Fights Last Night

NEW YORK — Chico Varona, 147, Havana, Cuba, outpointed Frankie Fernandez, 142½, Honolulu, 10.

BROOKLYN — Billy McNeece, 165¼, Central Islip, N. Y., outpointed Garth Panter, 161, Salt Lake City, 10.

Redlegs Open Final Lengthy Stand at Home

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs open their final long home stand of the season tonight with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts nominated rookie righthander Art Fowler to oppose the National League champions. His opponent will be Don Newcombe, who will be seeking his eighth victory and third from the Reds. Fowler will be shooting for his 11th win.

The Dodgers make their final appearance of the season here tomorrow night. The Reds must rest on Thursday before engaging the Pittsburgh Pirates in a two-game series starting Friday night.

Only 14 home games remain on the Reds' schedule. Tebbetts is hoping his team can recapture fourth place during the home stand for the Rhinelanders will be on the road most of next month and their record away from Crosley Field has left much to be desired.

Last night's game with the Milwaukee Braves was postponed due to rain.

STAYS IN OWN BACKYARD

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—His own backyard is the best recruiting ground for fresh football material, Art Lewis, head football coach at West Virginia University, has discovered. Of 50 boys slated for his 1954 fall roster, 35 are from West Virginia. Fourteen from out of state are within a 90-minute drive of the campus. Only one candidate for the team is from beyond that radius.

McNeece Tops Panter, Wants Langlois Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—"Fighting is fun," says Wildcat Billy McNeece, a 22-year-old former paratrooper who may make a lot of money doing what comes naturally.

The big, reddish-blond middleweight from Central Islip, N.Y., added to his prestige with a decisive 10-round triumph over seasoned Garth Panter of Salt Lake City in a lively scrap at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena last night. McNeece, a 1-2 favorite, outweighed Panter, 165¼ to 161.

One good win deserves another so today matchmaker Teddy Brenner and Manager Irving Cohen began negotiating with France's Pierre Langlois for an Oct. 11 date with Wildcat Billy at the Parkway Oct. 11. If they can't get Pierre, the two hope to corral either Joey Giardello or Rocky Castellani.

McNeece, whose record now is 11-2, won't be able to go before Oct. 11 because of cuts over both eyes requiring 10 stitches. The cuts were inflicted early in the bout with Panter but it didn't bother the bullish youngster a bit.

In the other television bout of the night, at St. Nicholas Arena, Chico Varona, sixth-ranking welterweight contender from Cuba, won a split 10-round decision over 35-year-old Frankie Fernandez of Honolulu.

Goldsberry's Hits Beat Indianapolis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Charleston Senators, the American Association's last-place team, got a measure of consolation last night against the top-dog Indianapolis Indians.

The Senators beat the Indians 7-1 as Gordon Goldsberry drove in three runs with a triple and homer.

The Indianapolis loss enabled the runnerup Louisville Colonels to move up to within 13 games of the Indians. The Colonels beat St. Paul 10-5.

In other Association activity:

The Minneapolis Millers edged Toledo 6-5, and Columbus beat Kansas City 7-3 as Cloyd Boyer hurled eight innings in relief of Bill Greason.

Michigan State footballers may have eye trouble this fall. For the first time since 1944 the cheer leaders will be coeds.

Youth at Home After Hurling In Minor Loop

John McKinstry, hurler for the Crestview, Fla., Class D ball club, has returned home after spending a portion of the past season there.

McKinstry, optioned by the Milwaukee Braves to Crestview in the middle of the season which closed several weeks ago, compiled an 8-3 mark for the entry in the Florida-Alabama League.

The former Harding moundsman was named the most popular player on the Crestview team the past season. Appearing in the annual league all-star game between East and West an relief, he was credited with the win for the West squad.

The son of Mr. and Mrs M. D McKinstry of 274 N State St., he is a 1953 graduate of Harding High School where he played baseball as well as football. He received a contract from the Milwaukee Braves shortly after his graduation and spent his first season with Appleton, Wisc.

McKinstry will remain in Marion until late in March when he will report for spring training with the Crestview club.

Marines Top Army Squad in Service, Rifle Competition

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—The National Trophy team rifle match, open to both servicemen and civilians and considered one of the top shooting events in the country, is fired here today with a field of about 300 shooters in the several teams.

Yesterday, the Marine Corps' first team won the National Service rifle championship with 1,431 points of a possible 1,500. The Army's first team was second with 1,428 and the Marines' second team was third with 1,425.

Lopez Making No Predictions; Cleveland To Battle Athletics

Last Session Tonight

Marion Pacers Sparkle In Fair Harness Racing

Marion-owned horses walked off with a major share of trophies and purse money in last night's harness racing session at the Marion County Fair.

Josedale Meteor, owned by Clay Schotte of Marion, won both heats of the 17 class trot for the $500 purse and Wise Super Market trophy while Bonne Hanover, owned by George Alber of Marion, won the trophy offered by Hughes Mortuary in the 17 class pace.

Ten races, beginning at 8 p.m., round out the 1954 Fair speed program tonight.

Clair Baker drove Josedale Meteor, the favorite, to wins in both heats of the 17 class trot. Meteor's times as the trotter nosed out Rondo Volo, driven by Louie Wickersham and owned by Richard Rook of Spencer in both heats, were 2:12 2/5 and 2:13 3/5.

Boone Hanover, driven by Robert Seabrook, won the trophy in the 17 class pace by virtue of its 2:08 4/5 performance in the first heat. Honor Lee, owned by Dick Sturgis of Kenton, came back to take the race's second heat but its time was slower.

In posting the best time yet at the Fair races this year, Boone Hanover was forced to catch Honor Lee, with Denzel Berry in the sulky, at the finish line after covering the last quarter in 30 1-5 seconds. In the second heat Honor Lee retained the lead all the way.

Bold Bob, owned by L. E. Nestel of Bucyrus, won both heats of the three-year-old pace for the Albert & Adams Studebaker trophy and $500 purse. The horse, driven by Bob Cheney, posted times of 2:11 3/5 and 2:11 2/5 in winning both heats.

Darn Lucky, owned and driven by E. A. Scherler of Lakewood, O., was declared winner of the trophy offered by Carl's Auto Parts in the three-year-old trot. His time of 2:15 in winning the first heat of the race was better than that of Kathy Jo, the pacer horse that finished ahead of Darn Lucky in winning the race's second heat. Bob Cheney drove Kathy Jo, owned by Clyde Rogers of Richwood, to the runner-up spot in the first heat of the race.

Best price of the evening on a $2.00 ticket was $12.00 on Kathy Jo to win in the second heat of the three-year-old trot. Darn Lucky, winner of that races' first heat, paid the next best price, $6.40 to win.

An added attraction during the racing last night in addition to the mule races was the appearance of the Bird - McGinnis Drum and Bugle Corps. The Cavaliers put on a short musical program and drill.

Bucyrus Gridders Name Co-Captains

BUCYRUS — The 1954 Bucyrus High School football team, which began practices at Lane St. Athletic Field last week, will have Fred Frey and Ned Bibler as its co-captains.

The squad's nine returning lettermen have elected the two seniors to the leadership posts. Bibler, a tackle, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. D. Bibler. Quarterback Frey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Frey.

About 50 youths are participating in the twice-a-day practices.

Manager Says Tribe in Good Mental Shape

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Al Lopez still isn't climbing out on any limbs about the American League pennant chances of his Cleveland Indians.

Relaxing in the quiet of his hotel room, the ex-major league catcher says quietly of the Indians' 5½-game league lead:

"We're still playing each game as it comes along. We're letting tomorrow take care of itself while we concentrate on today."

That's been the philosophy of the soft-spoken Lopez ever since the Indians went into first place early in the summer and clung there tenaciously despite a dogged drive by the five-time world champion New York Yankees.

Lopez thought awhile when asked about the physical condition of the club and then replied:

"We're in fine shape except for George Strickland, who still has his jaw wired up. He's been throwing a little and jogging and taking some batting practice and it won't be too long before he'll be ready to play a few innings." Strickland suffered a broken jaw when struck by a thrown ball in the last series the Indians played at Yankee Stadium.

How about mentally, Al?

"Well, the boys have been convinced all along they had a good chance. They still feel that way."

Washington, Salem Win League Games

New Washington and West Salem posted North Central Ohio Baseball League victories Sunday.

New Washington sailed past Ashland, 10-2, while West Salem edged Leesville, 3-1.

L. Ehrman was the winning hurler in the New Washington - Ashland fray, allowing only three hits. Kemp, the loser, gave up six.

N. Osborn permitted only two hits in hurling West Salem to its win over Leesville. The winners got seven off the offerings of Simmermacher. Osborn fanned 11 over the nine-inning route.

Eastern Tour Gets Tougher At Every Stop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—From last-place Baltimore, the Cleveland Indians moved to next-to-last-place Philadelphia today in a final eastern swing that figures to get tougher at each stop.

The three-game sweep against the Orioles gave the Tribe a 5½-game cushion over the New York Yankees and an 18-2 mark against the cellar-dwellers.

On a won-lost basis, the Indians stand 15-2 with Boston and 15-3 with Philadelphia and Washington, but the A's have been the softest touch of the three for Manager Al Lopez's league-leaders. The Red Sox came out of their last seven games against Cleveland with two ties and a victory, and their three in a row over the Yankees last week clearly tag them as the best of the second division.

Church Loop Tilts Won by St. Mary, Greenwood Teams

St. Mary and Greenwood notched Church League victories at Garfield Park last night.

St. Mary whacked Church of the Brethren, 11-3, and Greenwood downed Trinity, 6-3.

Four runs in the opening frame was enough as St. Mary downed Church of the Brethren on Tom Moran's six hitter. Four more runs in the second clinched the St. Mary victory.

Williams of the Brethren squad was tagged for 15 hits as St. Mary continued its scoring with one in the fourth and two in the sixth. The losers were able to nick Moran for a single run in the first and two in the fourth for their run production.

Radph Loreno had a home run and triple while Carl West, Richard Moran, Tim Kelly and Larry Leser each had two hits for the winners.

Six runs in the second frame provided Greenwood with its margin of victory over Trinity. Mel Donaugh hurled Greenwood to the win on a seven-hitter while Bill Trimmer of Trinity was reached for six safeties.

Greenwood's six runs came on three walks, three fielders choices, a hit batsman and two hits. Trinity netted two runs in the second and one in the fifth for its scoring.

Ferriman with two hits was the only Greenwood player to collect more than one safety.

Play at Dayton

New Champion Expected In Ohio Golf Tournament

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Sideline observers confidently expect a new 1954 Ohio Open champion when the annual event comes to a close at Walnut Grove course here tomorrow.

Recognizing the fact that Dick Shoemaker of Cleveland and Herman Keiser of Barberton, two former champions, are not yet out of the running, the gallerytes still look for a fresh personality to be the kingpin at the end of the three day 72-hole classic.

Keiser, a two time winner, had a 72, which put him three shots behind the leader going into today's second round. Shoemaker was grouped in the 73 division, four shots behind the opening day pacemaker, Jack Zimmerman, 26-year-old bespectacled Dayton amateur star.

Zimmerman's two-under-par 69 over the 6,500-yard par 35-36—71 course, was one shot better than that turned in by Clay Gaddie, veteran Cincinnati pro.

The other Cincinnati pros—Len Wagner and Henry Wilms — had even par 71s as did Don White, Toledo, and Jack Weitzel, Columbus, also professionals, and Marshall Clark, 21-year-old Miami University senior from Xenia.

All the other former champions are well out of the running. Johnny Krisko of Ashland (1946) had an 80; Jack Thompson Sr. (1928) of Canfield, had an 81 and Lloyd Cullickson, Toledo (1934) a 76.

After today's round, the field will be cut to low 60 and ties. They'll finish up with 36 holes tomorrow.

Stoddard Fires 75 In Open at Dayton

Marion's Jack Stoddard fired a 75 in the Ohio Open yesterday at Dayton.

Stoddard's 18-hole total is six strokes off the pace of Jack Zimmerman of Dayton who went around in 34-35-69 to lead the list of 157 golfers firing yesterday.

Stoddard, Marion County Club pro, went around in 38-37. He is one of 14 golfers with 75 scores.

Bud Baker, pro at Lost Nations in Cleveland and former Marion Country Club pro, fired 34-39-73.

Another area golfer in the Open, Bob Clouse of Galion, went around in 37-40-77.

Wrestling Card Slated Friday For Coliseum

A big wrestling program at the Coliseum Friday night has been announced by Les Fishbaugh, promoter.

The main event sends Vern Gagne against Art Neilson in a U. S. heavyweight title match. Gagne is one of the most popular wrestlers of the day while Neilson and Reggie Lisowski are the world's tag-team champions.

In the semi final match, Farmer Jones will grapple with Bull Montana.

In the tag team match set for 8:30 p.m. to open the giant wrestling card, Danny O'Sullivan and Dick Torio will take on Billy Fox and Gino Angelo.

All three matches at the Coliseum will be best two-out-of-three. Friday will mark a change in scenery for the wrestlers and fans. The matches were formerly held every Thursday night at the Marion Armory.

So Who Wants To Watch You Lead a Band?

I read in Time that Bill Cullen, one of the professional panelists on TV, has divided masters of ceremonies into three categories: "There's the drooler who sugars out 'God bless you' and that sort of stuff; the caustic guy; then there is the man in the middle who is neither."

J. CROSBY

I was thinking about these three categories the other night while watching Sammy Kaye, the old Swing and Sway maestro, as he conducted the affairs on "So You Want To Lead a Band," (ABC-TV, 9:00 p.m. EDT Thursdays) one of the most slender excuses for a TV show on record. Kaye is neither caustic nor sugary nor even very much of a man in the middle — more of a man to one side.

In personality, he reminds me of some headwaiters I know. The smile crinkles the mouth but the eyes remain cold as stones, throwing out about as much warmth as a skull. "So You Want to Lead a Band" is founded on the premise, which I consider highly arguable, that in everyone there lurks a flaming desire to wave a baton in front of a bunch of trumpet players.

WHILE THIS IS NOT, I believe, a universal temptation, it does exist in enough humans to supply Kaye steadily with a collection of earnest amateurs who are almost equally awful at leading bands. The Kaye band is an odd outfit anyhow. It specializes not only in making the band masters sound bad but also in making itself sound fairly horrible.

I concede that it takes a lot of perverse skill to make a professional musical aggregation sound quite as terrible as Kaye's does—but is this kind of skill, I keep asking myself, entertainment?

The musical — if that's what they are — interludes of this divertissement are preceded by some of the most inane colloquies to be heard anywhere on television — and, brother, that's a sweeping statement if ever I heard one. Here's a typical one between Kaye and a lady baton-wielder:

"Where are you from?"

"Roanoke, Va."

"Well, it's a lovely town. How long you been married?"

"It'll be four years this month."

"Have you had any musical experience?"

"I took a little dancing."

"Where you staying?"

"The Marie Antoinette."

"I remember her well."

"Ha ha."

"How long you been married?" asked Kaye, apparently forgetting that he had already explored this fascinating territory.

"Four years this month."

"Sort of an anniversary, eh?"

AND SO IT WENT, this flashing repartee, as thousands yawned. Finally, the lady took over the baton and quaveringly conducted the band in "Dinah," the whole thing sounding like a victrola that's running down. She looked, though, as if she were enjoying it.

So, just possibly people do want to lead a band, as Mr. Kaye insists. But do other people want to watch them at it? If Mr. Kaye really is so fond of letting other people gratify their illicit desire to wield a baton, I suggest he do it as a private philanthropy, preferably out in the middle of Wyoming.

I hate to sound so cross about it, but I think operations of this sort should be severely discouraged before they become endemic. If Kaye got entrenched too firmly, first thing you know w'd have programs called "So You Want To Be an Actress," "So You Want To Sing a Song," "So You Think You Can Do Card Tricks"—and God knows where it would all end.

'Fed Up' Bus Driver Quits in Middle of Run

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The bus was plainly marked "North Meridian Express," but passengers kept buzzing to get off at near North Side stops.

Each time the driver sighed and stopped, explaining patiently, "This is an express bus."

At 20th Street, he stopped, turned to the passengers and announced, "I guess this is as good a time as any to quit." He picked up his coin changer and walked off the bus, leaving the astounded passengers to change to later buses.

Indianapolis Transit System said the driver quit because he was "fed up." His name wasn't announced.

Uniform Card Favored By Postal Supervisors

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If postal supervisors have their way, there won't be any more of those oversize or undersize postcards going through the mails.

The National Assn. of Postal Supervisors, at the opening of their 34th convention yesterday, adopted a resolution urging the Post Office Department to request all greeting card manufacturers to produce only a standard size.

The District of Columbia led all states in per capita income in 1950, followed by Delaware, Nevada and New York.

Portsmouth Police Get Order To Keep Feet off Dashboard

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—City Manager Robert E. Layton wants policemen here to keep their feet on the ground. He ordered officers in police cruisers to stop using the dashboards of the cars as foot rests.

Since becoming city manager, Layton has issued 83 new rules and regulations for the police department.

Among other things, he banned "mooching" of food and drinks from stores and restaurants. Along with a "dress up" order he furnished police headquarters with a large mirror.

To forestall any headaches from all the new regulations, Layton directed the chief of police to keep aspirin available at all times.

U.S. Aircraft Carrier Gets New Suit of Armor

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—Workers were stripping seven million pounds of armor from the 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt today, preparing to give the FDR a new suit of armor.

The Navy said, without giving details, that a new type antitorpedo blister to be installed around the FDR's hull possibly will make less armor necessary.

NAMED BY SOHIO

CLEVELAND (AP)—Standard Oil Company (Ohio) last night named Edward F. Morrill of Longview, Tex. as general manager of its new petrochemical divisions, effective Sept. 1. In his new post he will be responsible for construction of Sohio's new $17,000,000 plant in the Toledo - Lima area. The plant, to be started next month and finished in late 1955, will produce anhydrous ammonia and other chemicals.

Meeting Slated For Studies of Traffic Survey

A meeting of city and county officials and others interested in a traffic survey in Marion is planned for Monday, Aug. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

R. N. Ricketts of the Ohio department of highways division office at Delaware will be the principal speaker. Talking primarily on Ohio highway planning, he will also explain why cities with traffic surveys and plans are more apt to receive favorable consideration from the state in the construction of by-pass routes and other similar programs designed to relieve traffic congestion in the cities.

Organized by John Dowler of the Chamber of Commerce Civic Affairs Committee, the meeting will be informative in nature. Those attending will be told what is being planned to complete a fund raising campaign to pay for a local traffic survey, how Marion fits into the state highway construction and planning program, and why the survey is needed.

Dowler said it is also planned to present factual data obtained from other cities which have completed, started, or planned traffic surveys and in some instances construction projects based on the survey.

Invited to attend the meeting are the Marion County commissioners, the Marion City Council, both city and county engineers, Mayor Harold F. Robinson, Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest and members of the Civic Affairs Committee and the Citizen's Traffic Survey Committee.

PLEADS INNOCENT

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) — Meigs County Commissioner Roy Proffitt, 47, yesterday was charged with shooting with intent to kill and held for the grand jury under $1,000 bond. He pleaded innocent and waived preliminary examination. He is accused of shooting his former son-in-law, Grover Calvert, 29, during an argument last Saturday over Calvert's visitation rights to see his child now living at Proffitt's home with the mother. Calvert, shot in the right side, is in serious condition at St. Joseph's Hospital in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Wishing Well Nets $1,206.07 in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Workmen cleaned out a wishing well at the Detroit Institute of Arts yesterday and found $1,206.07 in small change.

The well was placed in the lobby several years ago when Institute officials sought to discourage visitors from tossing pennies in a fountain exhibit. The pennies clogged the fountain and resulted in high repair bills.

The money will be used to purchase new exhibits for the museum.

Safety Plan Backfires

VISALIA, Calif. (AP)—To protect them from thieves, this city's theater cashiers are locked—from the outside—in their booths. But the precaution backfired for Robbie Wittfield, 17.

While she sat helpless in her cage a man climbed into her car parked across the street and drove away, ignoring her shouts. Police still are looking for the thief.

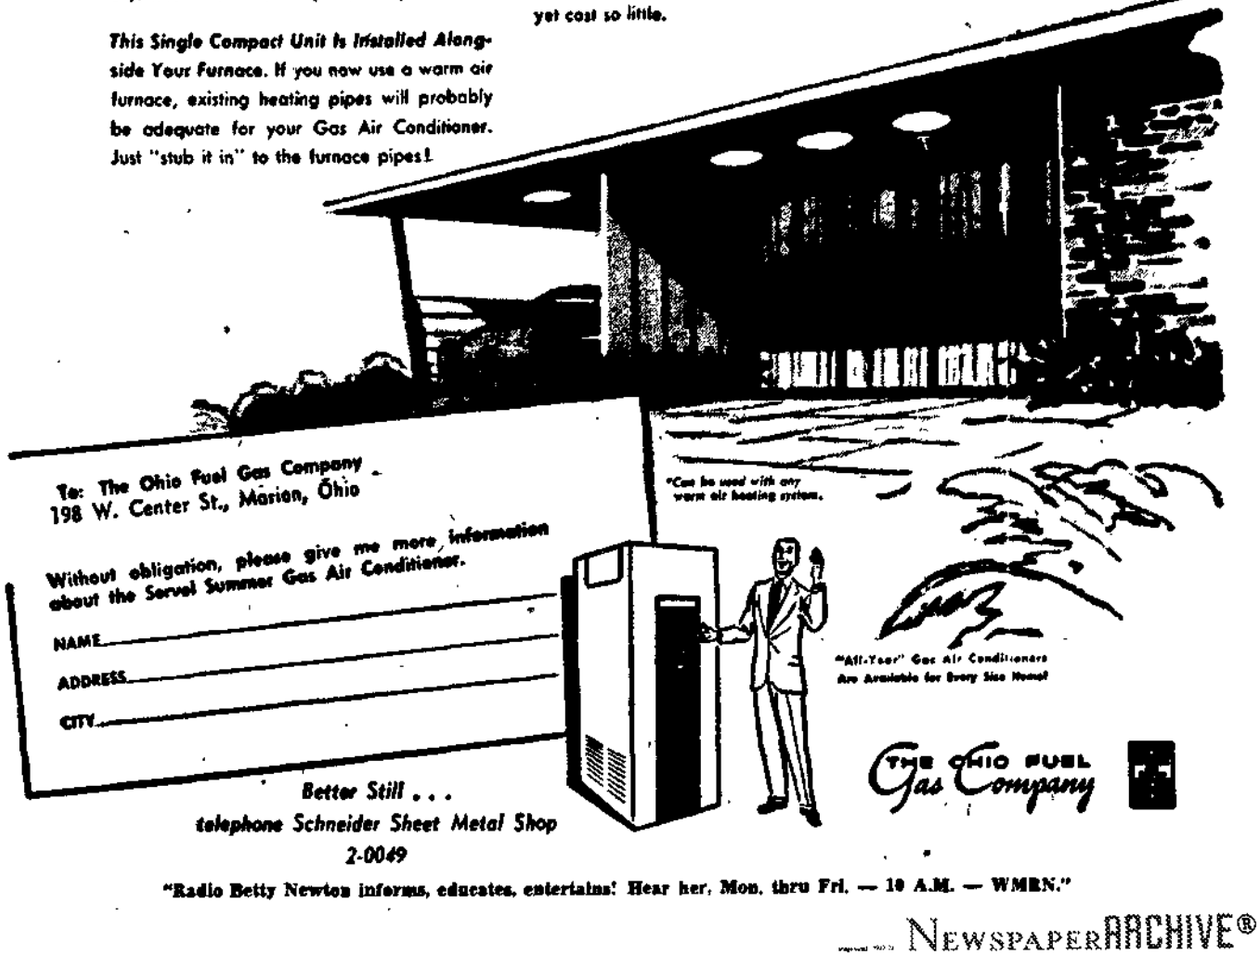
You Heat with Gas—
Now You Can Cool with Gas!

Your Present Heating System
Becomes a Central Cooling System
When You Add the Amazing New
Servel Summertime GAS Air Conditioner

You use Gas to heat your entire home in winter . . . for real comfort year 'round, use Gas to cool your entire home in summer. The amazing new Servel Summertime Gas Air Conditioner is not a window cooler or a night fan. It is a complete central cooling system that pours cool, dry, filtered air into every room of your house.

This Single Compact Unit Is Installed Alongside Your Furnace. If you now use a warm air furnace, existing heating pipes will probably be adequate for your Gas Air Conditioner. Just "stub it in" to the furnace pipes!

The Price Is Surprisingly Low. You are, no doubt, wondering what it will cost to put Servel Summertime Gas Air Conditioning in your home. This one unit costs less than the many window coolers that would be necessary to do so thorough a cooling job. Only Gas Air Conditioning can cool your entire home so well — yet cost so little.



*Can be used with any warm air heating system.

"All-Year" Gas Air Conditioners Are Available for Every Size Home!

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sagged quietly today with most divisions depressed in the early afternoon.

Because of the moderate volume of business, no pressures developed in any area. The pace was around two million shares.

Losses in some instances went to between 1 and 2 points. However, most were small. Gainers were not spectacular by any means.

Aircrafts, which were buoyant yesterday, were neglected today and largely lower.

Steels slumped, and other major divisions losing ground included railroads, oils, coppers, chemicals, and utilities. Others were mixed to steady.

Montgomery Ward, up 5 points yesterday on proxy fight rumors, dropped away today around a point after opening of 3,000 shares off ⅝ at 78⅞.

Also lower were U.S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Boeing, Republic Aviation, American Telephone, Western Union, Kennecott Copper, Union Carbide, American Can, Celanese, General Mills, Atlantic Coast Line, Shell Oil, and Cities Service.

Combat B-29 To Make Last Flight at Air Show

OMAHA, (AP)—The final mission of the last combat B-29 Superfortress in the Air Force will be flown at the Dayton, Ohio, aircraft show September 4-6.

Strategic Air Command headquarters here said today the nine-year-old plane is the "command Decision" and that it has flown on 121 combat missions and that it's gunners shot down five MIGs in the Korean War.

SAC said the plane was built in 1945 and the five "kills' made it the only "bomber ace" of the Korean fighting.

Following the Dayton show, the plane will be put on display at Dayton's Wright - Patterson Air Force Base.

STEP NUMBER ONE: NEVER LET THE MALE KNOW HOW INTERESTED YOU ARE IN HIM!
BUT WHY? HE SHOULD LIKE THAT!
HE DOES—BUT IT EXPANDS HIS EGO—AND THE NEXT THING YOU KNOW HE BEGINS LOOKING AT OTHER WOMEN, FIRMLY CONVINCED THAT ALL WOMEN ARE IN LOVE WITH HIM!
I SEE! IN OTHER WORDS, IT'S NOT WISE TO CREATE UNNECESSARY COMPETITION! PLEASE GO ON!

Tongue-Twisters Help in Research

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—A new machine with the tongue-twisting name of ballistocardiograph is being installed by the University of Oregon medical school here to help heart research.

The instrument, described as more sensitive than a seismograph, was designed by Dr. Herbert E. Griswold Jr., associate professor of medicine at the medical school, and Don W. Cunningham, assistant professor of engineering design at the University of California.

The machine measures the forces exerted on the body by the blood movement which occurs when the heart contracts. Doctors said the unique feature lies in the fact that it will measure these forces on three planes simultaneously — from head to foot, from front to back and from side to side.

It took several months before Dr. Griswold and his associates found an area relatively free of vibrations to istall the machine. They finally decided upon the basement of the administration building. It is so sensitive it will pick up distant footfalls, light breaths of air and ever-present vibrations of buildings.

Dr. Griswold plans to test a series of people with normal hearts and compare the forces on the body caused by the contracting heart with people having abnormal heart conditions. He said he hopes in this way to learn something to the effect on the body of a defective heart and blood vessels.

Body Slows at 30

LINCOLN, Neb. — (UP) — Life may begin at 40, but Helen Becker, extension health specialist at the University of Nebraska says your body begins to grow old at 30.

Miss Becker said she got her information from an "old-age expert at the national heart institute."

Regardless of the statement, people are living longer all the time, she said. The average age at death is now 69.8 years, compared with 63 years just a decade ago.

SPARING THE SPARROW

PORTLAND, Me. (UP) — Mrs. Agnes Aliberti went back to drying her laundry indoors when sparrows built a nest in her clothespin bag after she left it hanging on the drying reel in her yard. She refused to disturb the homemakers.

Optimistic Despite EDC Fight

Ike Hopeful on Europe Peace Outlook

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just as gloomy winds were blowing from Europe, bearing tidings that the European Defense Community looked all but dead, President Eisenhower spoke hopefully of peace there.

He didn't say what made him so optimistic. EDC was intended to be a major piece of insurance against Russian attack.

Eisenhower told his nationwide television audience last night not to be "too discouraged" about the prospects for peace in Europe. He said some great statesmen were working on it.

But that's what they've been doing for years, particularly in a big conference last week to breathe life into EDC, and chances for the single European army never looked so bleak as now.

Something To Be Done

"There is still something to be done in that region," he said, "and we are going to do it."

If this country has any solution for the EDC dilemma, it hasn't been disclosed, although no one has been more interested in the creation of EDC than the United States.

And if the British Prime Minister, Sir Winston Churchill, and the French Premier and foreign minister, Pierre Mendes-France, found a solution they didn't indicate it after a five-hour meeting yesterday.

The Frenchman rushed to Churchill after the foreign ministers of the other EDC countries turned him down cold at Brussels last week on his ideas for the kind of EDC which the French might buy but the others wouldn't.

The single European army—made up of troops from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—would have been, if it became a reality, a first, solid defense against Russian attack in Europe.

Single Army

It would mean the six no longer could have any national armies of their own but would pool their men in a single army, wearing the same uniforms, and under a unified command chosen from among themselves.

But it would also mean letting the Germans rearm. They'd have 12 divisions in EDC. Yet that was one of the main reasons for proposing the single army in the first place.

Since Germany was bound to rearm someday, she could be kept from becoming an international menace again if her troops were in a single army with her neighbors instead of in an all-German army.

The more the French thought of it the less they liked the idea although they were the ones who suggested EDC.

The thought of Germany's rearming at all worried the French. They envisioned a day when the Germans would dominate EDC. They didn't want to see France without a single national army of her own.

Question Faced Soon

EDC couldn't come into existence without approval by the French Parliament. It hasn't approved yet. Mendes-France said he'd put the question to Parliament this month.

Mendes-France proposed a remedy for French opposition to EDC. He suggested to the other EDC ministers at Brussels last week 14 pages of changes in EDC. Unless the rest would accept them, reports quoted him as saying, the French Parliament would vote against the project.

But those same reports said his proposed changes were so drastic that they would, in effect, scuttle any hope for EDC, a real, single European army, for years to come. The others told him no.

That, it seemed, meant the death of EDC when Parliament voted, unless some way out could be found, equally satisfying to the French and the EDC members. None has been made known officially so far.

The French, with a fear of a rearmed Germany which may seem abnormal sometimes, might go along if the British would join EDC to give the French assurance the Germans could never run the single army.

Mendes-France may be playing a shrewd game here. He can tell the French Parliament now he made the best try he could to get changes pleasing to the French and then say without French approval EDC was dead. Faced with a choice between no EDC and Germany rearming on her own later, Parliament might say yes.

Crash Kills Couple On Way to Hospital

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A husband and his young wife, on their way to a hospital where she was to give birth to a child, were trapped in the wreckage of their pickup truck yesterday and burned to death.

State Trooper R. L Casey said the truck collided with another pickup, turned over and caught fire. The dead were Harold Legg, 25, and his 23-year-old wife, of Zela.

Casey said the driver of the other pickup, George Keeney of Witcher, had been charged with negligent homicide.

$8,339 Asked by Galion Woman in Court Action

BUCYRUS — Judgment of $8,339 is asked by Grace Thomas of Galion from Harry Dye, as administrator of the estate of Rebecca Dye, who died in Galion last Nov. 19.

The action has been filed in Crawford County Common Pleas Court here by Mrs. Thomas, who alleges the amount is due her for services rendered Mrs. Dye. In her petition the plaintiff claims the amount is due her for personal services, necessities of life, comforts and needs furnished Rebecca Dye. The petition states that the plaintiff's claim was rejected by the defendant-administrator.

No Free Passes to Iowa State Fair, Even for Ike

DES MOINES (AP)—Even President Eisenhower will have to have a paid admission ticket to get into the Iowa State Fair when he speaks there—by invitation—Aug. 30.

"We are sticking to our policy of no free tickets," Fair Secretary Lloyd Cunningham says, "and that includes even the President of the United States.

'Somebody will have to pay for Ike, even if it turns out to be me."

No free passes have been issued to the fair since 1946.

Toledo Boy, 12, Freed of Blame In Girl-Slaying

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A 12-year-old boy, implicated by an older youth in the assault-slaying of a schoolgirl, has been cleared of any blame in her death, Prosecutor Harry Friberg said yesterday.

Friberg said stoop-shouldered Bernard A. Schreiber, 17, admitted he alone assaulted and stabbed Mary Jolene Friess, 17, in a woods near here Aug. 12. Schreiber previously insisted the 12-year-old struck the girl with a club.

Friberg said the older boy took all the blame after authorities determined the 12-year-old was home eating breakfast at the time of the slaying.

Schreiber was held on a delinquency charge accusing him of murder and assault. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for today before Juvenile Court Referee J. R. Kelly.

Opening of Studio Marked by Benefit

The opening of a Jimmy Rawlins Dance Studio in Marion in September will be marked with a special benefit show, The Jimmy Rawlins TV Stars of 1954, on Sept. 2 at the Palace Theater.

The event will be for charity with admission to be one can of food or boxed cereal, all of which will be distributed to charity by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce. Children attending must be accompanied by at least one parent.

Featured on the program will be many of the youthful television personalities seen regularly the past season with Jimmy Rawlins as master of ceremonies. Also appearing will be Bud Gillis and his pet monkey, Banana, and organist Charlie Cesner.

City officials are expected to join in the affair and radio broadcasts are being arranged.

Ike Sustains Only One Major Setback In 4 Foreign Aid Tiffs With Congress

First in series of stories reviewing the session of congress just ended.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower won three of his big foreign aid battles with Congress. He lost a fourth, which may hamper severely his policies for tightening U.S. relations with Allied countries.

Here is the record:

1. Foreign trade. Eisenhower's major setback. Congress balked at the President's program for lowering tariffs to encourage Allied and friendly nations to trade with the United States. Eisenhower succeeded in getting mainly a simple extension for one year of his bill to negotiate tariff-cutting trade treaties but none of the new authority he asked to lower tariffs through such treaties.

Other Nations Anxious

Diplomats attached great significance to the record in this issue because American foreign aid programs, aside from military, are rapidly coming to an end and other countries are worrying about where necessary dollars will be obtained.

2. Foreign aid. Congress voted a total of $2,781,000,000 for the current 12 months period—it was around 700 million dollars less than the nearly 3½ billions requested by the President.

Administration officials indicated the cuts were not crippling, however, and would not be interpreted by foreign governments as evidence that the United States was withdrawing into a shell. Other governments constantly look to congressional action for evidence as to whether the legislators are on the whole supporting the President's program of "partnership" with friendly countries. About 80 per cent of the total for foreign aid is for military purposes.

Biggest Victory

3. Atomic. The President registered possibly his greatest victory on this issue. He gained authority, although not all he asked, to transfer to America's allies in Europe secret information about the effects of atomic weapons and such information as size, weight and shape of these weapons.

Officials said this would enable the United States to bring military thinking of countries like France and Italy out of World War II concepts into the concepts of the atomic age.

The President also won authority to assist cooperating countries like Belgium, which furnishes atomic raw materials to the United States, to build up atomic industry.

4. Bricker amendment. Eisenhower won a tough fight when the Senate declined to go for the constitutional amendment put forward by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to restrict presidential powers to make international agreements.

Fifth Big Issue

There was a fifth great issue which never was officially presented to Congress although members spent many an hour making speeches on the subject—how to save Southeast Asia from Communist conquest.

The program of legislation turned out by Congress will have a long-range important bearing on U.S. foreign relations aside from immediate effects.

This is a period of transition in relationships with other countries.

In general the United States is cleaning up eight years of efforts to promote the economic recovery and stability of other countries. Nations like Britain and France are back on their feet—at least to the extent that American dollar grants can get them there. In underdeveloped countries of Asia and Africa, American policy increasingly emphasizes Point Four assistance—the relatively inexpensive program of teaching other people how to grow more food and make more goods.

For the big Western European producing countries and for Japan, the great issue now is this: Can they get from United States foreign trade, either directly or indirectly, the dollars which formerly got into international monetary channels by way of American aid?

If they cannot, must they look to Russia and Red China for a greater trade volume or is there sufficient volume among the free nations without an expanded American market?

Economic Basis

Insofar as U.S. political policy goes, this comes down to saying that the degree of cooperation, the solidarity of the Western front against Soviet communism will stand in the long run on the foundation of the dollars and cents relationships of buying and selling. That conviction is held in the State Department from top to bottom. It has been reflected from time to time in President Eisenhower's calls for a greater volume of foreign trade.

Foreign governments realize that Congress holds the key to this. What Congress did in the present session will therefore have a far-reaching influence on the plans of Allied and friendly nations.

In the first year of his administration, Eisenhower asked and received from Congress a one-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreemnts program. Looking to the future, he appointed a special commission headed by industrialist Clarence Randall to study the whole problem of foreign trade.

This year, the President took the commission's majority report as a basis for recommendations to Congress aimed at expanding trade.

Reduced To Principle

House leaders resisted and, in the end, the President obtained instead another one-year extension of the trade act. It meant little beyond keeping alive the principle of reducing tariffs by getting reciprocal cuts in tariffs of other countries. As a practical matter, the President's authority to make cuts at home has been practically exhausted through the conslusion of agreements in earlier years.

The President also obtained a modified version of legislation he had asked for simplification of U.S. customs procedures—something that has exercised foreign businessmen and governments for years. But again Congress wrote in requirements which the administration regarded merely as slowing down the whole simplification process.

4-Month-Old Baby Revived by Firemen

GALION — Galion firemen revived a four-month-old baby girl Brenda Smith, Monday when her mother and aunt rushed the baby to the fire department.

The baby had pulled a blanket up over her face and seemed to be suffocating. This happened at 10:10 a.m., Monday while the mother, Mrs. Raymond Smith of near Mansfield, was visiting at the home of her husband's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Strickler of east of Galion, Route 30-S.

Mrs. Smith and the Stricklers were alarmed when they thought the baby was not breathing and saw that she was very white. Oxygen was administered with the resuscitator by firemen and then the baby was rushed to City Hospital for further treatment and oxygen. Later, the baby was released from the hospital.

Four firemen on duty assisted in administering first aid.

Because of their literary patrons, English coffee houses were once called "penny universities."

Blast Furnace Deaths Blamed On Gas Pocket

CLEVELAND (AP)—Firemen today blamed carbon monoxide gas and high humidity for an industrial accident which killed three men and nearly asphyxiated 10 others yesterday at the American Steel & Wire Co.

Fire Capt. Willis McClure said a pocket of the deadly gas had accumulated in a blast furnace and poured out when workmen opened a door of a gas washer chamber connected to the furnace. The wet, heavy air prevalent yesterday prevented the gas from dissipating quickly in the asmosphere, McClure said.

The three who died were attempting to save two men who opened the door. Pronounced dead on arrival at hospitals were George March, 37, works superintendent at the plant; John J. Schmidt, 59, a maintenance foreman; and Casimer Smolinski, 47, a millwright gang leader.

Pete Swet, 37, and Michael Virgalla, 53, had gone up on a catwalk along the furnace to change a gasket in the washer chamber.

They opened the door and other workers below saw them crumble to the floor of the catwalk.

March, Schmidt and Smolinski were among several men who rushed to their aid with ropes and ladders.

Besides Swet and Virgalla, eight others were overcome by the fumes. All were reported in satisfactory condition.

Reunions

WEIST

The 40th annual Weist reunion was held Sunday at Hardin Memorial Park near Kenton with 55 members and eight guests present. Officers elected for the coming year are: president, Phil Weist; vice president, Miss LaVerne Weist; and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Arlis Walters. On the park committee are Phil Weist and Arliss Walters. The reunion will be held the third Sunday in August next year.

TO JOIN REDS. Karl Franz Schmidt-Wittmack, member of the West Germany parliament, was reported to have gone over to the Communist side in a Soviet East German radio broadcast. According to the Red radio report, Schmidt-Wittmack, his wife and daughter had gone to the east and sought political asylum.

Farm Machinery Displays Set, Says State Fair Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There'll be plenty of farm machinery on display at the Ohio State Fair this year, exposition officials said today.

The machinery display probably will be as big as last year despite decision of the Columbus Tractor Club, composed of farm machinery distributors, to concentrate on county fairs rather than on the state fair this year.

The Ohio State Fair opens next Friday and continues through Sept. 3.

In addition to the many displays of new farm equipment, farmers will have an opportunity to compare modern equipment with that of the past. An antique farm equipment show sponsored by the Ohio Historical Society will be held throughout the fair. All this equipment will be dated prior to 1925.

The new equipment will not be concentrated in one building, but will be displayed in several buildings in the machinery exhibit area, fair officials said.

EMBEZZLEMENT TRIAL SET

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—The trial of Mrs. Fronia Sexton, 62, charged with embezzling $114,000 while president of the Citizens National Bank here, will start Saturday at 11 a. m. in U.S. District Court at Cincinnati. She waived a federal grand jury hearing after being freed on $5,000 bond. Mrs. Sexton was publisher of the Ironton Courier, which ceased publication after the charges were brought against her.

Around City Council's Table

Marion City Council adopted 12 pieces of legislation, turned down none, heard some complaints and proposals, and discussed other business in a three and one-half hour meeting Monday night.

Parking Ban Studied

Two ordinances pertaining to the impounding of illegally parked motor vehicles in the city resulted in a nearly hour long and somewhat confused discussion by Council.

One of the ordinances was to repeal an ordinance previously adopted for the city to sign a contract with the Short-Ford Garage for the towing and storage of illegally parked and wrecked vehicles. It was adopted with little comment.

The other ordinance was to authorize the safety-service director to sign a similar contract with the Road Service Garage for the impoundment and towing of such vehicles.

The lengthy discussion resulted from a clause objected to by Gene Little, operator of the Road Service Garage. This clause called for storage of all impounded vehicles within an enclosure protecting them from the weather. Little said he could store only 15 automobiles in this manner, but would be willing to fence in his lot to increase his capacity if this clause were deleted from the proposed contract.

After several votes on various motions to delete the clause, Council finally approved its deletion and adopted the ordinance.

Major terms of the contract affecting towed and stored cars call for a towing fee and first day storage fee totaling $3.00 with an additional fee of one dollar a day for each day after the first day. It also calls for a charge of $3.50 an hour if it is necessary to clean the streets following a collision.

Card Repeal Studied

An ordinance proposing repeal of an anti - card playing ordinance adopted earlier this year was given a first reading after a move to have it considered as emergency legislation failed.

The repeal ordinance was proposed by Harold Smith, first ward, on the grounds that the anti-card playing ordinance prevented purely social card playing in public places.

Adopted at the request of Mayor Harold F. Robinson and Police Chief Thomas Coon, the anti-card playing ordinance was designed to help eliminate gambling activities in the city.

Council asked Coon whether or not the ordinance has been beneficial in aiding control of card playing for money. Chief Coon said the ordinance had been helpful for this purpose and beneficial to general enforcement of gambling laws.

Following Coon's statement, Council voted on whether or not to declare the proposed repeal ordinance emergency legislation and dispense with the three readings required. The motion to declare it emergency legislation lost, meaning the repeal legislation will be given two more readings before Council votes on it.

Funds Transferred

An ordinance to transfer $200 within the Park Fund and to appropriate $1,500 from the Veteran's Housing Fund was unanimously adopted.

The appropriation from the Veterans Fund to be used for maintenance and repair of the housing units on W. Fairground St. Mayor Robinson said that the units were in need of painting and repair. He estimated that $600 would be needed for labor to paint the units and $300 for the paint. The other $600 would be used for general repair work.

The fund transfer within the park fund was to take $200 from the playground directors allowance and put it in the park incidentals allowance within the fund.

Merchants Commended

A resolution commending the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce for its effort in maintaining bus service in the city was unanimously approved. Mayor Robinson suggested the resolution as a show of the city's gratitude to local merchants for their donations to keeping and maintaining bus service. Mayor Robinson said he felt the merchants deserved a pat on the back for their efforts.

Specifications Asked

A suggestion that the city set up specifications for any new streets to be built in the future within the city limits was made to Council by City Engineer John V. Ruth.

He said in order to insure relatively maintenance - free streets they should meet certain requirements, one of which would be a two-inch bituminous concrete surface. He said that properly constructed streets would give maintenance-free service for some 15 years. Some streets now being built in the city will require extensive maintenance within a year, he said. These are the streets which are only surface treated with no actual paving, he said.

Projects Approved

Three resolutions calling for street improvements in different sections of the city were all adopted unanimously.

One of these resolutions was for the construction of storm and sanitary sewers, macadam pavement, and curbs, gutters and sidewalks in a new addition being developed by the G and G Builders west of the Olney Ave. extension south of Bellefontaine Ave.

Another was for the construction of storm water and sanitary sewers in portions of Brentwood and Glenwood Drs.

The third called for improvement of Uhler Ave. south of Indiana Ave. with curbs, gutters, sidewalks and a macadam pavement.

Alleys Vacated

Ordinances ordering the vacation of two alleys also were given Council's unanimous approval. Alleys vacated were: one running between Congress St. and Woodrow Ave. from Whittier St., west to lots No. 12919 on Woodrow Ave. and 12924 of Congress St. The other was for vacation of an alley running through lots in Ackerman's first addition to the city of Marion on land recently purchased by William Patterson and Fred K. Berry.

Damage Claims Paid

Ordinances to pay two damage claims were approved and a motion to prepare legislation to pay a third was unanimously adopted.

Claims paid was one by M. Giles of 150 Spencer St. for $15 he claimed he paid for having a city sewer line in the street in front of his residence cleaned. The other was to Patrick Sales for $23 damage to his automobile when struck by a city grass mower operated by Charles Flanders of the service department on July 24.

Another claim for repayment of costs of repairing a sewer in the street in front of his residence was submitted by Walter A. Ruetsch of 233 Bellevue Ave. He claimed total cost of having the sewer repaired was $121. Mayor Robinson said he felt it was a legitimate claim in that the city had failed to inspect the sewer in front of the Bellevue address when it was installed many years ago. Decision to bring in legislation for paying the claim overruled a report by sewer committee chairman Herman Rinehart in which it was suggested that the city was only partly at fault for the sewer failure. Rinehart said this was very similar to another recent case in which the city had decided to split the repair bill with the complainant. On this basis, Rinehart suggested the city pay $50 of the $121 repair bill submitted by Ruetsch plus returning a $25 surety bond to him.

Harold Fralich reported that the sewer committee had thoroughly discussed the case and decided it was essentially the same as a previous case when the city had determined to pay only one-half the repair bill cost.

Clarifies Stand

At the beginning of the meeting, following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting of Council on Aug. 9, City Solicitor George Placentino said he wished to clarify two points in a talk of his at the July 23 meeting opposing the proposed City Charter.

Placentino said he felt it was important for the minutes to include that he had no intentions of seeking further public office in the city when his present term of office expires. He also said he wished to point out that he did not wish to delegate his vote for the city solicitor and city auditor offices to the City Council as the charter essentially provides. He said he did not wish to give up his direct vote for these two top city offices.

All Members Present

All members of Council were present for last night's meeting. No invocation was read to open the meeting because of failure of the minister scheduled to read the invocation to appear.

Marion Men Fined

Floyd E. Kidd, 23, of 245 Jefferson St. and Junior Lyree, 19, of 553 N. Main St. were each fined $50 and costs in Juvenile Court this morning for contributing to the delinquency of minor girls.

Lyree was also fined $15 and costs on a parking violation charge. He will be turned over to Lawrence County sheriff's officials later where he is wanted on a disorderly conduct charge.

State highway patrolmen from the Marion post arrested the two at 3:19 a.m. Sunday. The two minor girls involved will be brought before the juvenile judge on Friday, the patrol said.

Tree toads make their musical sounds with vocal cords, through which air is expelled.

Local Resident Loses Arm in Traffic Mishap

CRESTLINE — A Marion man was in "fair" condition in Crestline Emergency Hospital following a traffic accident near here today.

Richard Byers, 29, of 817 Davids St. underwent surgery on his left arm which was lost three inches above the elbow in the accident.

Byers evidently had his arm out the window while driving when his car and a semi truck sideswiped three and one-half miles east of Crestline on Route 30-S at 5 a.m. today. The truck continued on, highway patrolmen said.

Byers' car, traveling west on Route 30 from Mansfield, was badly damaged. State Highway Patrolmen from Richland County investigated.

Police Chief at Galion Outlines Work to Rotary

GALION — "It takes time to make a good policeman," Police Chief Morris Bowers told members of the Galion Rotary Club Monday night. He was speaker for the dinner-meeting of the club at Hotel Talbott.

Walter Gosborn, program chairman, introduced the chief.

Bowers explained that one problem confronting the Galion police department, as well as those in other cities and the state highway patrol, is that men leave police work to take work in private industry and usually when they have had enough training that they are of real value in police work. The chief described the organization of the Galion police department. One officer of the Galion police department will leave next month to attend identification school, Chief Bowers told the group. A question and answer period followed the chief's talk.

Robert Smith Jr., chairman of the youth committee of the club, outlined plans of activity of his group. The club also heard a report from Jack Richter on the meeting last week of trustees of the Galion Trouble Clinic and others, in planning to bring a speech therapist to Galion. Another report was given by Ralph Pollock who told about the organization of the Rainbow Girls in Galion.

Tree toads belonging to the class of amphibia are sometimes called "peepers."

Denies Red Charges

Annie Lee Moss Wants Army To Name Accusers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, again denying Communist ties, has asked the Army to produce her accusers at a security screening board hearing.

"I am not a Communist, have never been a Communist and have no communistic leanings or sympathies," the Negro woman said in a notarized reply yesterday to the latest charges against her.

The Army suspended Mrs. Moss for a second time Aug. 4 from a job with the Army Signal Corps. It said it acted "on the basis of information which was not previously available."

Mrs. Moss was temporarily suspended last spring from her $3,335-a-year position after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) brought up her name at an investigation of alleged Communists in the Army. She denied before McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee that she was the Annie Lee Moss an FBI undercover worker had testified was known as a Communist. The undercover worker failed to identify Mrs. Moss by sight.

After reinstating her, the Army suspended her again on charges she was issued a Communist party membership book in 1943 and on other counts similar to those she previously denied.

In denying the Communist book charge, Mrs. Moss said in papers filed by her attorney:

"No time or place is given with regard to this alleged transaction, nor is there any suggestion as to the person with whom the transaction was made . . . It is my earnest desire . . . that the author or authors of this information be produced in order that the error may be demonstrated and that I be given an opportunity to vindicate myself."

New Anti-Red Bill To Receive Ike's Approval

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower today signs into law history-making legislation outlawing the Communist party and cracking down on Red-infiltrated labor unions.

The President's decision to approve the bill with its outlawing provisions, for which the administration did not ask, was announced by Press Secretary James C. Hagerty at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here.

Administration doubts about the bill—revised before it passed to overcome a principal objection—were based on concern as to whether it would make "propaganda martyrs" of Reds in this country and drive them further underground.

In his radio-television address last night on the record of the Republican 83rd Congress, Eisenhower did not disclose whether he would sign the bill. He did say the administration has had to forge "new weapons in order to defeat internal communism."

"The great thing we wanted to do was to find effective means of eliminating the Communist or the subversive from any point where he could possibly damage us, but to do it by constitutional process . . .," he said.

The goal, he said, has been to make certain that anyone questioned about communism "would be protected also."

The bill outlawing the Communist party overshot the administration's mark on anti-Red legislation when an election-bound Congress enthusiastically passed it on the last day before adjournment. The vote Senate, 79-0; House, 265-2.

The Army's first successful signal system was field-tested during a campaign against hostile Navajos in 1860.

Traffic Cases In City Court

Seventeen persons were fined a total of $510 and costs on various traffic violations when they appeared in Marion Municipal Court yesterday.

Stiffest fines were handed out to Lester Gates Jr., 24, of 775 York St. and Orville K. Aldridge, of the rear of 334 Willow St. Gates, on a hit skip charge was fined $100 and costs and given a three-year suspension of his driving rights and a suspended fine of $15 and costs on a charge of driving with only a temporary permit. Aldridge received the $100 fine, a five-day sentence in the county jail and the suspension of his driving rights on a drunk driving charge.

Fined $15 and costs on speeding violations were Earnest A. Keirm, 21, of near Marion, Cledrus Collins, 27, of N. Matiwan, W. Va., A. F. Gasiorek, 19, of Detroit, Mich., D. G. Roos, 66, of Toledo, A. V. Rose, 55, of Zanesville and John J. Watkins, 34, of Columbus.

Fined $15 and costs on yellow line violations were Oscar Halliday, 50, of Bay City, Mich., and Kenneth H. Abke, 42, of near Portage.

Fined on miscellaneous violations were C. W. Koebel, 61, of Groveport, improper passing, $15 and costs; Paul E. Crawford, 51, of Silverton, reckless operation, $15 and costs; William R. Thompson, 33, of 183 Erie St., permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle, $15 and costs; C. E. Perrin, 24, of near Fredericktown, failure to yield the right of way, $15 and cost; J. L. Zeller, 45, of 357 Leader St., failure to heed a railroad signal, $25 and costs; Junior Tyrie, 19, of 553 N. Main St., illegal parking, $15 and costs; and J. W. Henry Jr., 27, of 704 Henry St., stop sign, $15 and costs.

Given suspended fines of $15 and costs were William C. Cork, 74, of 968 N. State St., failure to yield the right of way; Robert F. Harper, 20, of 364 Mary St., failure to signal, James H. King Jr. of Columbus, reckless operation; T. G. Daas, 35, of 698 Darius St., no safety chains.

District Traffic Cases

State highway patrolmen from the Marion post Monday arrested Champ Childers, 22, of Willow Run, Mich., for speeding. He forfeited a $15 bond in Mayor Harold Koehler's court at Upper Sandusky.

FINED ON CONDUCT CHARGE

Two persons were fined for disorderly conduct Monday in Municipal Court. A fine of $50 and costs was levied against Burmuda Johnson of 275½ Niles St., while a fine of $25 and costs against Jack Robinson Jr., 19, of 194 Edwards St. was suspended.

The average age of a member of Congress is 53.

Commissioners Will Study Toll Setup for Pike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike Commission today meets to discuss recommended tolls for the Northern Ohio Turnpike.

Suggested charges for the first 22 miles of the turnpike, due to open in December, will be divided into three sections, a turnpike spokesman said.

They include rates from the Pennsylvania border to Ohio 7, from Ohio 7 to Ohio 18 and from the border to Ohio 18.

For autos and light panel trucks the suggested charge for the entire route is 3 cents. It would cost 25 cents to drive to Ohio 7.

For trucks with more than four axles the 22-mile drive would cost $1.90. Suggested toll for buses carrying 13 or more passengers the entire length would be 85 cents, the same charge for single three-axle trucks.

Crushed Subway Motorman Freed After Seven Hours

NEW YORK (AP)—Motorman David Moclair, 52, spent seven agonized hours trapped in the wrecked cab of a subway train yesterday. Both legs were crushed and he was finally freed last night after one foot was amputated.

Moclair's empty train ran into a cement wall after a tripping device apparently failed and let it smash through a bumping block at the end of the track.

Rescue workers first used acetylene torches to cut through to Moclair, but the heat became unbearable for him and they turned to saws, which slowed progress. The motorman was comforted during his ordeal by his 16-year-old son and his wife, Mary.

Moclair could move only one hand, but this enabled him to reach for drinks of water and smoke an occasional cigarette. Doctors on the scene gave him drugs to ease his pain.

Moclair was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

Enters Innocent Plea

A Pittsburgh man will appear in Municipal Court Friday to answer a larceny charge filed against him by the W. T. Grant Co.

McClinton Murphy pleaded not guilty to the charge at a preliminary hearing Monday. He was charged with stealing 14 women's slips from the store on W. Center St. His bond was set at $100.

Denies Passing Check

A plea of not guilty was entered by Kenneth Haubiel, 22, of Delaware to a charge of forgery Monday in Municipal Court. Haubiel was charged by Ralph M. Nicolosi, operator of the Hub Bar and Grill, with passing a check for $112 drawn on a Bucyrus bank.

Bond was set at $50 for his trial. No date has been set for the hearing.

No United States of Europe

The main thing being sought through the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the European Defense Community is security against Russian aggression. It does not matter what label the security has on it, as far as military strategy is concerned.

If it turns out that the defense community plan originally proposed by France and now threatened with failure because there seems to be no way to get it ratified by the French National Assembly must be abandoned, security then will be sought in some other form. If this amounts to giving up the hope of uniting France, Italy, Holland, Luxembourg and West Germany, that will be a loss only for advocates of a "United States of Europe." Theirs is a long-range goal.

What seems to have happened in France as far as long-range planning for European cooperation is concerned is what has happened in the United States in relation to the United Nations. A minority of intensive nationalists has taken up cudgels against the very thought of cooperation with other governments. The French premier must deal with this minority in the National Assembly. He is trying to modify EDC to appease its critics, some of whom will settle for nothing but abandonment of the whole plan.

The United States, again cast unwillingly in the role of taskmaster, is warning France that the penalty for scuttling EDC will be the rearmament of a strong and independent Germany. It seems not to have occurred so far to the statesmen who have conceived this alternative that the United States would become in that event the guarantor of European security not only against Russian aggression but also against German aggression, the torch that set the world afire in World War I and World War II.

Suburbia Could Be Better

Evidence bobs up occasionally that Americans are too smart to let their new suburbs drift into the mistakes that gave New York sardine tenements, Baltimore and Philadelphia row houses, Boston crooked streets and almost every city its share of blighted areas and traffic bottlenecks.

The township of Princeton, N. J., for example, has taken steps to block erection of identical houses. Every real estate development that practices control of design and placement and every suburban shopping center that provides parking space is a tribute to men's ability to profit by their own mistakes.

Suburbia can profit by the mistakes of Metropolis. And in so doing, it can give Metropolis a chance to correct some of its mistakes, by relieving the congestion of central cities. Contrary to a mistaken belief, the central cities are not dying. They are getting a chance to live as they learn what needs to be done about some of their most acute problems.

Collective Bargaining

Presentation of arguments on both sides of the American Airlines flight stoppage was so thorough that every point seemed to have been covered. However, the truce ending the three-week suspension of operations is a proper occasion to acknowledge that one detail in the issue between airline management and the Air Lines Pilots Association kept getting lost in the shuffle.

The Pilots Association contended throughout the three - week airing of the issue between it and American Airlines that it had been denied the privilege of consultation under the Railway Labor Act, which governs labor relations in the aviation industry. The association contended there were no questions which could not have been handled through consultation; that it was the absence of consultation which caused the work stoppage.

Since the arguments on both sides developed in such a way as to obscure this point, it seems reasonable to take a belated look at it. The Air Lines Pilot Association apparently was striving for working terms.

100 Miles Each Way

Since it appears that the lighted fuse on Formosa is going to be the one to watch for the next few weeks, there is a military equation to be considered.

It is 100 miles from the Chinese mainland to Formosa.

It is the same distance from Formosa to the mainland.

It would be just as easy for Chinese Nationalists on Formosa to invade the mainland, as far as distance is concerned, as it would be for Chinese Communists on the mainland to invade Formosa.

But there is more than distance concerned. There is naval strength. The United States possesses the only naval strength in the area, and it has announced it will do nothing to keep the Nationalists from invading the mainland although it will do everything in its power to keep the Communists from invading Formosa.

Perhaps the possibility of a Communist invasion is the only one to be considered. But among Chinese Communists there is close attention given to the possibility that recent moves in Asia might foreshadow a Nationalist invasion of the Chinese mainland. The Formosan fuse could have been lighted by Chiang Kai-shek instead of by Chou En-lai, for a change.

Legislative Milestone

By David Lawrence

National Interest Given Priority by Congress

Something so unusual has happened with respect to the 83rd Congress which has just finished its labors that it can be noted as a milestone in legislative history.

For this was one of the few sessions of Congress in the last fifty years which could be justly characterized as a "national interest" Congress.

Thus the Democrats in the Senate who voted for the new tax law recently to make a majority could have killed that legislation even though in the House of Representatives the Republicans had a clear majority without the aid of the Democrats. But so strong was the pressure of the people for the new tax law and it was in the national interest — that many of the Democrats in the Senate felt they could not conscientiously vote against the interests of so many of their constituents.

This does credit to the minority party which of course might not feel inclined to vote for a Republican measure in the Senate if it were known in advance that the Republicans had sufficient votes to pass it anyhow.

There was a "national interest" majority on the farm legislation. Many Republicans as well as Democrats voted along sectional lines but the majority were looking at the proposed law from the broad standpoint of desirability for the nation.

WITH A NARROW majority for the Republicans, therefore, the Democrats felt it impracticable to defeat the legislation because the benefits to the citizens conferred by national laws do not, of course, follow party lines.

The session just ended had other distinguishing marks about it.

There was a noticeable recognition of the demand of the people for economy in government. This is just the reverse of the spending policies which for such a long time have dominated the thinking and voting of members of Congress.

Also despite the fears abroad that the Republican party if given power would prove itself to be an "isolationist" party the amounts voted for foreign aid are almost as substantial as in previous years. Only a handful of votes from both parties were cast against the policy of building a bulwark against Communism abroad by bolstering the economic strength of the Allied Nations.

To say all this is not to ignore the fact that partisanship did exist and play an important part in the proceedings of Congress. The squabble over public power versus private power cut to some extent across party lines but it was largely a fight and filibuster engineered by the Democratic party.

The blame for the failure of the amendments to the Taft - Hartley Act is a difficult one to explain because motives for the large Democratic vote cast to kill the amendments sponsored by the administration are not easy to expose to view.

ACTUALLY the Southern Democrats who helped to bury the Eisenhower proposals were temporary allies of the Northern "liberals" who thought the amendments not liberal enough. But behind the scenes many of the conservative Democrats in the Senate feared the amendments actually were too "liberal."

Naturally the President's leadership in proposing legislation which even many of the Democrats could not afford to oppose will come in for political praise on the stump but it should not be forgotten that Speaker Martin and Rep. Halleck, the majority leader and Rep. Dan Reed, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee did as orthodox a job of lining up the Republicans as has been done in many decades.

In the Senate, Knowland emerges as one of the ablest legislative leaders of our times. For despite the brickbats thrown at him from time to time he has a task unprecedented in the Senate's history.

He was in name "majority leader" but actually his party was in the minority and this prompted him to use some vigorous and assertive tactics at times which occasionally caused resentment among the Democrats. At the same time this aggressiveness was necessary in order to challenge the Democrats to dare to vote down some of the "national interest" proposals that were on the "must" list.

KNOWLAND LEARNED a lot at this last session and the miracle is that he was able to get through as much legislation as he did despite the fact that unlike other leaders of their parties in the Senate when in control he never had a working majority of Rpublicans. He will be an even better leader if the Republicans get a substantial majority next time.

As for Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Democratic party leader in the Senate, he showed himself a master of strategy and revealed a quality of statesmanship especially on foreign affairs which has been all too rare in the past in both parties.

It was a "national interest" Congress in more ways than one.

All Is Forgiven

By TRUMAN TWILL

The cat scandal at the Twillery has reached a stage of tension that would be absurd if it were not so deeply involved in emotionalism. It is tempting to try the agony column of the newspaper:

"Dear T. Manville—What have we done to deserve this? Give us a chance to explain. We love you and want you to love us. Please call."

What has happened is that the black tomcat who writes like a man and has thoughts equally ornery is living at the Twillery on a part-time basis. He drops in when he feels like it, which may not be for weeks at a time. He may stay for a few hours, or a few days. Then he vanishes.

He obviously is in good health and good spirits. But being a tomcat, he is inscrutable. You do not dare press for an explanation, because at the hint of such a thing he goes to sleep.

When he calls, he takes it for granted he will be given the best of everything, including a square meal and an uninterrupted nap in his favorite chair. When he has taken his ease, he strolls to the door, kicks it open and leaves. Where he goes is problematic. But the length of his absence leaves no doubt he likes it there. It is humiliating and frustrating. No one knows how to reach him

But he is a tireless reader. This, then, may let him know he has a correspondence card which takes him to task for his most recent essay—the one in which he said he might change his name to Ruby Rosa, Mdivani or something. His correspondent is as alarmed about this as the senator who inveighed against changing the name of "Arkansaw." The card reads, in part:

"It was easy to agree with your choice of T. Manville when you were nothing but an unknown alley cat. You naturally wanted something to catch the eye and ear; we can sympathize with your original motive. But you are silly to think you ought to change your name now simply because your namesake hasn't taken a new bride or been in the divorce courts for several months.

"As a matter of fact, YOU are the one who has made the name of T. Manville famous. And YOU are the one who can keep it that way. You, yourself, might even be in danger if you changed your name.

"It could be that no one would recognize such a monicker as Mdivani. In time, the generations might fade to such an extent they wouldn't know a cat named T. Speaker, W. Johnson or even B. Ruth. But for generations to come, they would know a cat named A. Lincoln, G. Washington, W. Shakespeare, or T. Manville. What I'm driving at is that you are a famous feline in your right, whether you realize it or not. And generations to come will go on remembering you as T. Manville. If you changed your name, you'd be as lost as if you'd call yourself J. Doe. It's that simple."

The e-card is signed with three initials, O. R. R.

Perhaps T. Manville, known sometimes as Mdivani and sometimes as Ruby Rosa, like a character in a Russian novel, will see this and take heed. Perhaps he will realize he has taken a sucker punch at family pride and think better of his absenteeism.

It is not that there is any overall shortage of acts at the Twillery. It is only that the cat everybody wants to meet is T. Manville, and it is humiliating beyond description to be forced to say, "He has been living with us only part time having found some other place nearby he likes better." It's as humiliating as having to explain a missing husband or the absence of a featured speaker at a political rally.

Wherever you are, old pal, if you read this, write. Or telegraph. Better yet, come back to stay where you belong and where you can help write this column on days when help is appreciated.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

One of the youngest soldiers from Marion County to serve in the Civil War was George B. Christian, who entered the service when 16 years of age. Later he was appointed deputy county auditor and in 1873 was elected county surveyor. An advocate of the gravel road system he built the first gravel road in the county extending from LaRue to the Union County line, and was connected with the construction of the Radnor, Mount Olive, Green Camp and Union County line, the Marion and Big Island Pikes and the gravel road from Marion to Prospect. He was a member of the board of education three years and served on the building committee, consisting of J. R. Garberson, A. H. Kling and himself, for the erection of the North School building in 1879. He also was editor of the Marion Mirror from 1877 to 1882.

Looking Toward the Fall

Native Reds Worse Than Soviets

By James White

KIRKENSES, NORWAY

If you ask the people on the Artic roof of Europe how they like having the Russians as neighbors they look over their shoulders before replying. Since 1940 Norway has, for the first time, had a common frontier with Russia in the far north.

In Finnmark, Norway's largest and most northerly province, every man for miles around has been catalogued by the MVD, Russia's dreaded security police. Throughout the 22,000 square miles of Finnmark nobody can be quite sure of his neighbor.

"We're not afraid of the Russians up here," said a farmer whose land is within sight of the Soviet. "It's our own Communists we fear. Better the devil you know than the one you don't."

THE NORWEGIANS are not a nervous people, but they've had some bad shocks of late. These started soon after Lieut. Gregori Feodorovitch Pavlov of the MVD sought asylum in Norway last fall. Before long a Russian of Norwegian parentage named Edvind Anton Hansen, illegally in Norway to recruit spies, was arrested and deported.

Later, six Norwegians, fishermen and peasants, two of whom had worked as Russian spies during the German occupation of their country and had continued to do so until arrested, received sentences of up to 4 years for supplying the Russians with information about military forces, establishment and installations, including Norway's most northerly airfield at Bardufoss, about flying activity, frontier guards and Russian refugees. They were paid up to $1,200 for their reports. Four of the spies were Communists. If not discovered, their activities would have been "catastrophic for the defense of north Norway."

IT IS LITTLE WONDER the Norwegians fear their own traitors most, just as they feared the Norwegian Quislings more than the Germans during the occupation. Evidence given by various spy trials has shown that every Norwegian in the frontier district has been card-indexed by the MVD in Murmansk. Details of his private and public activities, friends and relations, sympathies and antipathies, work and politics, are catalogued.

In 1945 the Communists polled 176,000 votes (12 per cent), in 1949 they got 102,000 and last year only 90,000. Every one is a potential fifth columnist, and it is inevitable that a proportion of them should be in the army, navy and air force.

As recently as July, wartime resistance leader Asbjorn Sunde received an 8-year sentence for supplying a Russian "cultural attache," B. S. Mesjevitnov, with details of Oslo's military depots, their guarding and the units they would supply on mobilization. He got the information from Norwegian Ser. Erling Nordby, who received a 3-year sentence. Sunde also was found in possession of notes regarding Norwegian atomic research. The entire defense of the Norwegian capital would have been rendered ineffective, according to the judge.

NORTHERN NORWAY'S share of Communists is perhaps greatest. In 1944 the Russians who drove out the Germans were welcomed as liberators by the entire north. Many Norwegians who had spied for the Soviet during the occupation continued to do so. And though many Norwegian Communists who fled to Russia in 1940 came back apparently cured of their communism, too many were further infected.

To the east of Kirkenes, where a signpost indicates that Russia is a mere 300 yards away, the only sign of life comes from the birds of prey which hover ominously over the frontier. Yet one has the impression, undoubtedly true, of being watched.

That's the feeling everyone has up here in the far north. That's why both honest men and traitors keep looking over their shoulders.

Tensions Shifting to Cyprus

By MARK DANA

Inevitably the Communists will be blamed for instigating, directly or via a created atmosphere, the present tension in the island of Cyprus.

The island, traditionally linked to Greece and populated by Grecian people for thousands of years, lies in the Western end of the Mediterranean Sea, south of Turkey, west of Syria, straight north from the mouth of the Nile, hence of course about 700 miles east of Greece.

The island has scant economic value to anybody, yet has strategic value as a military bastion, and Great Britain occupies it for this reason. Nobody seemed to care much, one way or another, about the island's nationalistic status until some superheated patriots in Cyprus and Greece began agitating for Grecian jurisdiction.

Britain promptly announced that she would not give up the island. That, naturally, fanned emotionalism and now Cyprus has added to the lengthening list of world trouble spots, despite lack of any immediate urgency or valid reason for forthright settlement.

As the Communists have fed fuel to nationalistic rebellions in French North Africa, in Indo-China, in Indonesia and the Malayan Peninsula and the Philippines, the presumption is that Communists are stirring up the Cyprians and getting the Greeks mad at Britain. The recently-cemented mutual defense pact of Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia, aimed at "aggressors," might be kept in mind.

The United States is showing increasing open favor for independence and nationalist movements, plus antipathy for colonialism, and at the moment is somewhat peeved at Britain. Yet the U. S. has its own island fortresses over the globe, and military bases in Spain, Germany, England, Japan, Korea, Panama and elsewhere, plus avuncular solicitude for Puerto Rico.

Fortunately, the natives in the Pacific islands which are our own defense outposts are less demonstrative than the Cyprians, but most area conflicts of late have had their ostensible start in patriotism, even if artificial.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Real News Newsreel

Howard Lindsay and Dorothy Stickney, who opened in the original "Life With Father" company reappeared in it in Connamessett, Mass., this week. Nobody has ever come up to Howard and Dorothy as pop and mom. "Buck" Crouse, co-author with Mr. Lindsay of the fabulously successful comedy, was up to see them in the revival and we wonder if he remembered the opening night at the Empire in New York when he was the most apprehensive person in the house and kept reassuring friends, "It gets better in the next act."

The recent incident of a teen-ager who could hardly spell cat or dog or write a decent hand, although he said he was a three-year high-school lad, continues to fascinate us and we hear parents declaring, "Why the surprise? If a kid can spell cow after a present day high school education he is an honor student. . . and if he writes a hand that anybody can read he is made a candidate for a scholarship."

Alfred Hitchcock's new movie "Rear Window" has caused more shades to be pulled down than anything in years. It is a crime story from the viewpoint of a man watching everything that goes on in neighboring apartments. . . The leading man should have been "Mr. Peepers." It may replace the "Whodunit" with the "Whoseenit." Crowds are so big they have put up a sign 'Snooping Room Only." We heard of a fellow asking, "Shall we go to the new Hitchcock picture or stay home and peek at the neighbors?"

The success of Charlie Ruggles in TV's "World of Mr. Sweeney" is the happy event. . . Charlie has been in the theater for over 40 years. He was in musicals and farce comedies years ago, and has been in featured talkies for the last quarter of a century, always giving a delightful performance in the best of taste. Just when the breaks didn't seem to be so good, he put "Sweeney" on the Kate Smith hour and it is now a TV feature on its own which seems headed by top popularity. Full credit in our book goes not to the idea, which is extra aged, to the author or to the director but to Ruggles' perfect craftsmanship as a performer.

Bender Lauds Ike at Canton

Lions Hear Need for GOP Congress Stated

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—In a speech prepared for delivery today to the Kiwanis and Lions clubs, Congressman George H. Bender said the Nov. 2 election "may well decide the fate of the next generation."

Bender said he was not exaggerating when he stressed the importance to the next generation of retaining a Republican Congress behind President Eisenhower, whom he called "the most effective fighter we have in this conflict" of ideas with the Communist here and overseas.

Bender, campaigning as Republican nominee for the U. S. Senate seat formerly held by Robert A. Taft, is running against a fellow Clevelander, former Mayor Thomas A. Burke, who was appointed to the Senate last fall.

In his attack on the Democrats, Bender said they were "unable to protect the secrecy of the A-bomb," so "what reason do we have to believe that we can entrust the security of the H-bomb under their direction."

INJURED IN FARM MISHAP

Dwight Hedges, Marion County farmer, suffered injuries last night when the tractor with which he was working at his farm on the Green Camp - Newman Rd. overturned. Brakes on the vehicle failed causing it to narrowly miss going into the river at the edge of the field. Neighbors pulled Mr. Hedges from beneath the tractor and called the Merle E. Hughes ambulance which brought him to Marion City Hospital. He suffered injuries to his right shoulder and arm, head bruises, and mild shock, his physician stated. His condition was reported by hospital attendants as "fairly good." The accident happened about 6:30.

Galion Man Fined $100 On Charge of Assault

James R. Kerr, 20, of the Bucyrus Road near Galion, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in Marion County jail after he pleaded guilty in Marion municipal court Monday to an assault charge.

The affidavit for Kerr's arrest was filed by Gerald Emery, a state highway department worker, who phoned state highway patrolmen and told them a man had attempted to assault him at a roadside park north of Marion on U. S. Route 23 about 11:30 a.m. Monday. Emery furnished the patrol with the license number of the car which his would-be assailant drove away.

About 2:30 p.m. Monday state patrolmen picked Kerr up at the park north of town after Charles Barrett, superintendent of the state highway department, spotted him there and notified the officers. Emery later identified Kerr and filed the affidavit.
